TOMORROW'S VOTE TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Campaign Leaders in Every State Bending Energies Toward Getting Voters to Polls.

STRUGGLE DESPERATE IN FINAL HOURS

WEATHER SCHEDULED FOR ELECTION DAY.

Washington, Nov. 4.—This special election day weather bulletin was issued today by the weather bureau:
"On Tuesday indications are that the weather will be generally fair throughout the Atlantic states, the southern states, the Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys, the plains states and the far southwest; in the region of the Great lakes, the upper Ohio valley, northern New York and northern New England the weather will be cloudy, but probably without precipitation; in western Montana, western Wyoming and Idaho there will be rain or snow; rain is also probable in Washington, Oregon and extreme northern California. Temperatures will moderate for the season in practically all parts of the country on Tuesday."

The presidential candidates have prepared to receive returns from state and local leaders in all sections of the country.

IN INDIANA

Indianapolis, Nov. 4.—The ferreting out of more cases of alleged illegal registration and the perfecting of plans to get out the entire vote of the state tomorrow was the order in the camp of the three political parties in Indiana today.

It is believed operatives of a Chicago detective agency have been at work in most of the principal towns of the state for several days. More than a dozen cases of alleged illegal registration were reported by the agency from Anderson last night and at the same time it became known that employees of the same force had been at work in Terre Haute, where cases were alleged to have been found last week.

Only a few speaking engagements were on the program for today, the leaders giving most of their time to

WILSON FORGETS ABOUT INJURIES

Digs Into Work Regardless of Scalp Wound Sustained in Auto.

IS TRIVIAL AFFAIR

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Gov. Wilson forgot about his lacerated scalp today and dug into his correspondence. He said he was not bothered in the least by the wound received yesterday when he was knocked against the roof of the closed automobile in which he was riding.

Dr. J. M. Carnochan, Princeton University's physician who attended Governor Cleveland in his declining days here, called on the governor and looked at the wound again today.

"It's just a scalp wound and not serious in its nature," said the physician, "and will not prevent him from attending to his engagements."
Scores of telegrams of inquiry came to the governor, but he reassured everybody that he was "wholly himself" today. The governor left at 1:15 for Passaic and Patterson, N. J., where he is to speak tonight, winding up the campaign.

For He's the Individual They Require

Gov. and Mrs. Marshall Will Hear Returns at State House

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—The governor's office in the state house here will be the scene of a busy and interested gathering tomorrow night. It has been arranged for Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, the democratic vice presidential candidate to receive the election returns there.

A special wire has been strung into the office of Mark Thistlethwaite, the governor's secretary and from there the returns will be taken into the office of the governor which is adjoining. It is expected that the governor's party will consist largely of the state officials and the candidates for office on the democratic ticket.

One interested watcher of the returns will be Mrs. Marshall, who plans to be at the governor's office just as soon as the returns begin to come in. With her will be several ladies, one of whom will be Mrs. Meredith Nicholson, a close friend of Mrs. Marshall. Mr. Nicholson also will be in the party.

The vice presidential candidate will cast his vote for the national democratic state ticket at 115 West 15th street, near the executive mansion in the eighth ward and third precinct. He will be accompanied by Mr. Nicholson, who will call for the governor at about 9 o'clock election day morning.

CITY READY FOR BATTLE OF VOTES

Two Meetings Mark Close of Campaign in Allen County.

THE "SILENT" VOTE

The political stage in Fort Wayne and the Twelfth congressional district is set for the battle of ballots tomorrow. As in the past, leaders of the different parties predict victory for their respective tickets on the eve of the election. The setting, however, is somewhat different this year in many respects, and among other things of interest shown at the close of the campaign, is the general quietness which prevails at all political headquarters in Fort Wayne.

In the olden days, and in the days before the corrupt practice act went into effect, political headquarters of every party were veritable beehives of industry, with politicians swarming about in a final fight for votes.

Today the local political headquarters are quiet. Once in a while some candidate drops in to ask about certain matters of business, and there is an occasional straggler who wishes to get final instructions about operating a voting machine.

Only Two Meetings.
The campaign in Allen county will close tonight with only two meetings. The democratic campaign has ended, but the republicans will hold a meeting at Woodburn and the progressives announce a meeting to be held at the Perrine-Armstrong plant. Will C. Geake will address the voters at the progressive meeting.

Speakers for the republican meeting will be Francis E. Moore, a candidate for state representative, who will discuss "Good Roads," Charles R. Lane, candidate for congress, and E. V. Harris. Mr. Harris is slated for an address.

GIRL MAY WEAR MEN'S HUSE ON ELECTION BET.

St. Elmo, Ill., Nov. 4.—Men's white half hose will be worn throughout the winter by Miss Catherine Henry, a young high school teacher, if Theodore Roosevelt is not elected. If Taft loses, Lester Wyeth promised to wear his old straw hat until spring.

AN EXAMPLE FOR WIFE DESERTERS

Carl Kinsey Gets Term of One to Three Years at Jeffersonville.

AN AGGRAVATED CASE

Carl Kinsey, a barber employed for several years in shops about Fort Wayne, was sentenced in the circuit court this afternoon to from one to three years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville.

The evidence in the case brought out most aggravated conditions and indicated that for two or three months he has not given his wife any money although he knew at the time she was fatally ill and unable to provide for herself.

At one time he abandoned her and at the time gave her $2 a week during his absence although he was making $12 a week at the time and he knew she was in bad health.

He fled a divorce suit and after her attorneys had shown that the wife was not at fault and had secured the payment of $4 a week to the wife Kinsey left and went to Bloomington, Ill., where he was arrested. He has made some overtures since he was locked up to get a settlement but was unable to do so.

Albert E. Thomas, former prosecutor, represented the wife in the proceedings and conducted the case for the state and did it vigorously, as both he and Prosecutor Harry Hilgeman have been anxious to get a conviction and a prison sentence with the hope of restraining negligent husbands.

The conviction is the first of its kind in which the sentence has been imposed. There have been some suspensions but this means, in all probability, the end of any leniency as the authorities have been trying hard to make an example.

Two Badly Hurt as Traction Engine Explodes at Indianapolis.

Herd Owned by Rushville Man Makes a Record—Indiana News.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—The explosion of a traction engine on Missouri street today injured the driver, John O'Donnell, badly injured Charles Emery and damaged three houses.

O'Donnell was sent to the city hospital where his injuries may prove fatal. He was severely bruised and cut about the head. Emery, who was knocked down by the explosion, was able to go to his home after being treated by a physician.

The two men were in charge of a traction engine which was being taken to Shelby street and the union tracks. O'Donnell was in the cab of the engine and Emery was walking about forty feet in advance. Suddenly there was a loud explosion and a rush of steam. O'Donnell was thrown backward about 125 feet and rolled along the street. He was unconscious when picked up by the men in the police emergency machine. The explosion threw Emery forward. He sustained painful bruises in rolling over on the ground.

The cause of the explosion has not yet been definitely ascertained.

INDIANA CATTLE WINNERS.

Make Record Heretofore Unheard of at Big Dairy Show.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4.—An Indiana herd of dairy cattle has achieved a distinction in prize winning unheard of in contests among breeders at dairy shows.

A two-year-old Jersey cow owned and bred by John F. Boyd, Rushville, received the first prize in her class at the national dairy show here, after she had made the circuit of this year's ten shows, winning the first prize at all of them in Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Illinois. She is registered as Eminent's Plymouth 253837.

WOMAN DIES IN AGONY.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Minnie W. Richards was fatally burned yesterday when she attempted to start a fire with gasoline. The car exploded and she was covered with a sheet of flame. She died in agony. Mr. Richards was severely burned in attempting to extinguish the flames.

OLD BANDMASTER DIES.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—Asa B. McCann, who years ago was a bandmaster and musician in northern Indiana cities, died at the state soldiers' home this morning from cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. McCann was born in 1826 and served in the Thirty-third Indiana battery in the civil war. He was admitted to the home from Wabash county, in 1906.

HAD RIGHT TO FEES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—That Leonard M. Quill, former county clerk, was acting as an agent of the government in collecting naturalization fees and that he had the right to retain one-half of the fees so collected, is the decision of Judge Remaster, of the circuit court.

Wants Powers to Assist in Bringing About Suspension of War.

OVERTURES ARE MADE IN LONDON

Balkan Allies Hold Firm for Settlement With Sultan Direct.

London, Nov. 4.—The Turkish ambassador has been directed by the Ottoman government to inform Great Britain of Turkey's willingness to receive assistance in bringing about a suspension of hostilities with a view of arriving at a peace settlement.

Tewfik Pasha, immediately on receiving the communication from Constantinople, went to the foreign office and conferred with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, for two hours.

The Balkan nations and Greece are persistent in their determination that Turkey must arrange directly with them the terms of peace without the intervention of the European powers.

Attitude of Allies.

This attitude is emphasized in a statement from official sources, which says:

"The Turkish proposal of peace is satisfactory in so far as it shows a desire to prevent further bloodshed.

"As regards foreign intervention, however, there seems to be no chance of the Balkan states listening to any foreign counsels while treating for the arrangement of conditions of peace.

These must be settled between the Balkan states and Turkey direct.

"It may be at this stage declared that the whole campaign was pre-arranged and has been carried out entirely in accordance with the program. For a considerable time an officer of the Greek military staff, Col. Doumanis, was engaged at Sofia preparing the military details, while the political program was largely, if not entirely, the work of Premier Venizelos, of Greece.

"The union of the Balkan states at this moment is more close, hearty and intimate than it has ever been, for it has been welded by blood and common sacrifice. There is not the least danger that any disagreement as to the division of territories or of the positions of the frontiers will disturb it. It may be assumed that inasmuch as the details of the campaign were arranged with the greatest care the same procedure will be followed, both as to the conclusion of hostilities and subsequent political considerations."

ELECTION NEWS BY SENTINEL BULLETINS TOMORROW EVENING.

You are very cordially invited to join the throng and read the election returns to be flashed by stereopticon from The Sentinel building tomorrow evening. The service will be accurate and complete, including both the Associated Press and The Sentinel's special service, in addition to pictures by Cartoonist Griswold.

West Wayne street offers an ideal place for reading the returns, for there are no street cars passing to occasion annoyance to the crowd, and everybody is welcome.

What Twelfth District Chairmen Say of the Outlook

BY EDWARD G. HOFFMAN, Democratic District Chairman.

"The democratic ticket in Allen, Whitley, DeKalb and Noble counties will all be elected by a large majority, and the chances are bright for a democratic victory in both Stenben and Lagrange counties. Without hesitation I predict that Hon. Cyrus Cline, our present congressman, will be re-elected to congress by the largest majority ever cast for a candidate for congress in the Twelfth district. All signs point toward a landslide as the opposition vote has been divided.

"Mr. Cline is considered one of the most efficient members of congress at Washington. He is the fifth member of the committee on foreign relations; he is chairman of the public buildings committee in congress and has done such valiant and effective work as a member of this committee that his recommendations have been adopted by the public departments, saving the United States thousands of dollars each year.

"If Mr. Cline did no other service in Washington he should be re-elected tomorrow because of his splendid work in securing the money necessary to make the preliminary survey for the Fort Wayne, Toledo and Chicago canal. He should be returned to congress so that he may complete this canal project, which means so much to the Twelfth district and to the state of Indiana.

"The voters of the Twelfth congressional district will send Mr. Cline back to congress so that he may be of assistance to Mr. Wilson and to the democratic administration in guaranteeing honest business, to revise the tariff downward to a basis of revenue for the government, to revise the Sherman anti-trust law so that competition in business may be renewed and dishonest business forever stopped."

BY ALLEN J. VESEY, Republican District Chairman.

"The work of the organization in the Twelfth district has been completed except as to getting out the votes. Reports from the various county organization headquarters show to a certainty that a great number of former third party members and old-line democrats will vote the entire republican ticket from top to bottom. It is the reason quite generally alleged by them that times are at present better than ever before and they do not care to exchange that known to be good for something else not even promised to be better, but which on the contrary must almost to a certainty, result in a general depression.

"The early statements that President Taft was allied with the big interests, have not been repeated because the people have learned their untruthfulness. As a matter of fact it is of general knowledge that Taft is more free from big money influences than any other candidate for president has ever been, and the campaign now so near an end has been financed by small contributions from the people, and it has been fought out for the benefit of the people.

"These facts have at last become generally known and the voters from all information will act accordingly. Reports from the various counties of the district are that the loss to the bull moose party will be more than made up by accessions from the democratic party. The people have thought out the campaign question. They have been silent. No party or candidate has received assistance upon which to base reliable estimates of the results. The majority of voters have remained silent and it has been a silent vote we have endeavored to reach with arguments, the strongest the republican party has ever had to offer, and we confidently await the results of the election tomorrow."

BY LOUIS N. LITMAN, Progressive District Chairman.

"I am not speaking without reason when I state that the progressive ticket will carry every county in the Twelfth congressional district. I speak from reports that have been submitted by the different county chairmen. The progressive ticket will carry in this district by 3,400 votes, as follows: Stenben, 500; Lagrange, 600; Noble, 500; DeKalb, 400; Whitley, 400; Allen, 1,000.

"There is absolutely nothing to the report that the republican party will get back the bull moose voters. None of the progressive party members who were ever with the third party are going back to the republican ranks.

"The farmers of the Twelfth district are against the republican reciprocity and the tariff for revenue only. As the progressive platform offers protection against these two things, they are going to give the progressive candidates their full support and will vote the progressive ticket from president down.

"The democratic leaders in this district claim the whole of the democratic vote of four years ago. There are lots of democrats with the progressive party. The republicans of the district will not get any more than 15 per cent. of the old republican vote.

"With the vote from the progressive democrats and the progressive vote of the republicans, the progressive ticket will be carried to success. In Allen county the entire ticket will be elected, and the county candidates will receive as many votes as Roosevelt gets. In fact they may get a few more, but not many."

Seeing America First

A FEW DAYS AGO Dr. Bolman invited Arvid Polster, the druggist, to go fishing with him. This narrative deals with the consequences thereof but it is not really a fish story.

Mr. Polster accepted. In Dr. Bolman's automobile the two sped southward, out along the St. Mary's river, their destination being a point on the river near the Muldoon farm six miles south of town. In fact, they had been advised to go directly to the Muldoon place, and from there receive instructions as to the exact location of the best bass grounds in the river.

After they had gone as far as they thought they should, they stopped at a farm house to inquire the exact location of the Muldoon place.

"Well," said the farmer, as he pointed in the direction from which they had come, "if you will turn around and go back just ten miles, you will find a road leading off to the right; it's about a mile and a half down that road."

The wanderers looked at each other in astonishment. They were sorry to have gone ten miles out of their way, making a total of twenty miles lost, but there was nothing to do but follow instructions.

Arriving at the Muldoon farm in the course of time, they received the proper instructions.

"And they were proper, too," said Mr. Polster, "because we hadn't fished long before we pulled in two two-pound bass and three weighing a pound and a half each. The doctor was anxious to get an early start back, so we got in again and were soon speeding on our way, happy to know that out delay had not cheated us out of a mess of fish."

"We stopped and inquired."

Well," continued the druggist, "we went on and on for a considerable stretch, when I asked the doctor if he didn't think we ought to be getting into sight of Fort Wayne."

"That's just what I was thinking of," he answered. "We'll stop right here and see how much farther it is."

"So we stopped again and inquired. The man pointed in the direction in which we were going and said, 'If you will go on just a mile farther you'll run right into Decatur. But if—' We didn't stay to hear any more, but turned around as quickly as we could and managed to find our way home. I'm wondering if someone won't get the doctor and me a Blue Book for Christmas."

YOUNG MAN DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Mathias Sachreiter Found Dead on Floor of Sister's Home.

THE OTHER DEATHS

The lifeless body of Mathias Sachreiter, aged thirty-one, was found on the floor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Schmidt, 523 Furman street, early Monday morning. The young man had retired early Sunday evening and was apparently in his usual health. He complained a trifle of his stomach and chest, but was not considered ill. His body was found on the floor of his room, lying near a couch.

Mr. Sachreiter was born in Germany. He came to Fort Wayne twenty-two years ago. He was a carpenter by trade. Surviving he leaves the mother and one brother, who are visiting in Germany, and one brother and two sisters in Fort Wayne—John Sachreiter, Mrs. Mary Schmidt and Mrs. Mathias Klauen.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence and at 9 o'clock from St. Peter's Catholic church.

DOYLE.

Mary L. Doyle, aged sixty-two years and ten months, the wife of Thomas Doyle, died Sunday morning at the family residence, 1142 East Lewis street. Death was due to complications and followed an illness of one year. Her condition had been serious for the last four months.

Mrs. Doyle had resided in Fort Wayne practically all her life. She was a member of the Cathedral and of the Rosary society and Sacred Heart league of that congregation. Surviving besides the husband she leaves three children—Mrs. Adolph Wichman and John H. Doyle, of this city, and Joseph F. Doyle, of Kokomo. Three sisters and a brother also survive. They are Mrs. Mary Lemon, of Seattle; Mrs. Jane Montavay, of Kansas City; Mrs. Joseph Giant, of Jefferson township, and August Eward, of Omaha.

Funeral services Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence, and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

SMEAD.

John H. Smead, aged sixty-one years, a retired farmer, died late Saturday afternoon at the family residence on North St. Mary's avenue. Death was due to complications and followed an illness of several years.

Mr. Smead was born and reared in Allen county and had spent his entire life in the neighborhood of Fort Wayne. Three years ago he left his farm in St. Joe township and moved to Fort Wayne.

Surviving besides the wife he leaves three daughters and three sons—Mrs. Tony Vernon, Mrs. John Stephenson, John F. Charles L., Walter J. and Miss Margaret Smead, all of Fort Wayne. A brother, Albert Smead, also of this city, survives. Since moving to Fort Wayne Mr. Smead had become a member of the Precious Blood Catholic church, and of the school society of that congregation.

HIEBER.

Elma Hieber, an orphan, aged eight years, became critically ill Saturday afternoon, suffering an attack of diphtheria, and died Saturday in the office of Dr. E. H. Underwood, on South Broadway, where she had been removed for treatment.

Mrs. Ida Hieber, of Detroit, who had been called to Allen county on account of the death of a relative, the little girl was brought to Fort Wayne Saturday afternoon. She was violently ill at the time, and her death followed soon after her arrival at the physician's office, before she had opportunity to administer anti-toxin.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning from the Klauen & Melching undertaking parlors. Interment was made at Lindenwood.

SCHWARZ.

Anna Marie Schwarz, the widow of George Schwarz, died at noon Sunday at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Louise Schwarz, 706 Taylor street, at the age of eighty-one years, six months and nineteen days. Death was due to senility.

Mrs. Schwarz was born in Bavaria, Germany, and came to America in 1857, locating at once in Fort Wayne. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church and for years had taken an active part in the affairs of that congregation. The husband died four years ago. Surviving she leaves seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence and at 2 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church.

YOUNG.

Robert Houston Young, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young, of Cleveland, died Sunday evening. The remains will arrive in Fort Wayne Tuesday noon over the Nickel Plate railroad. Funeral services will be held immediately and interment will be made at Lindenwood.

The father, Roy Young, was formerly connected with the Fort Wayne Electric works and the family resided in this city.

SMITH.

James Smith, (colored) of 1705 Koch street, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon at St. Joseph hospital after having submitted to a surgical operation.

Mr. Smith was sixty-three years of age and had been a resident of Fort Wayne for many years. He was a professional chef. Mr. Smith became ill the first of October, and had been a patient at the hospital for three weeks.

KRUDOP.

Anne Helen Krudop, aged 11 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krudop, of 1351 Hugh street, died at 9 o'clock Sunday night after one week's illness from scarlet fever. Surviving besides the parents are two brothers and five sisters.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. Lange officiating. Interment at Concordia cemetery.

BIRELEY.

The four-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bireley, of 1334 Sinclair street, died at noon Sunday. Funeral services were held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Lindenwood cemetery.

WHITLE.

Robert William Whitle, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitle, died at 10 o'clock Saturday night at the family residence.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Whiteley.—Funeral services for Robert William Whiteley, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 1119 Eliza street, and later from the Precious Blood Catholic church.

Smead.—Funeral services for John H. Smead Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence on St. Mary's avenue, and at 9 o'clock from the Precious Blood Catholic church.

Brown.—The remains of Burley Brown will be shipped to Wrenn, Ohio, Tuesday morning for interment.

More than 400 indictments have been returned and when any one gives in a name in the list of indicted there will be some one present to challenge the vote and call for the arrest of the person attempting to vote. The league also has a list of many more of the four thousand fraudulent registrations.

The hearing before Orph Hall, United States commissioner, of the members of the Taylorville election board, who were arrested by deputy marshals, is set for this afternoon. They are accused of oppression, threatening and intimidating a man named Leasure who wished to register.

New York Canvass Shows Small Proportion of Irregularity.

New York, Nov. 4.—Five hundred and seventy-five men working forty days in canvassing New York city's 700,000 voters have found only 800 cases of apparent irregularity, and of these not more than 150 justify the issuance of warrants.

John R. Voorhis, superintendent of elections, so declaring today, added that his men had found no evidence of any attempt at colonization of voters in the city.

The police, private detectives and headquarters of the various political parties have been given lists of the apparent irregularities in registration and all are making preparations to watch tomorrow for the men suspected.

OTHERS MAKE SACRIFICE.

Three Give Up Skin to Aid Girl for Whom Billy Rugh Died.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 4.—Three more men, her father, her brother and her grandfather gave up fifty square inches of skin for the burned body of Miss Ethel Smith, for whom Billy Rugh, the crippled newsboy gave his life, by allowing a useless limb to be amputated for its skin. The operation was performed yesterday afternoon at a local hospital.

Charles Smith, the father; Ray Smith, 21 years old, her brother, and Roy Roberts, 21 years old, her sweetheart, gave the skin. When Rugh gave his limb not enough skin was obtained. It is said Miss Smith will be well in a month.

ISSUE NOW UP TO THE PEOPLE

Governor Wilson Says He Does Not Doubt the Outcome.

THREE CHOICES OPEN

New York, Nov. 4.—The following statement by Governor Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for the presidency, was issued through the headquarters of the democratic national committee:

"The issue is now clearly made up, and goes to the people. I, for one, do not doubt the verdict. The voters must take one or another of three choices."

"First—Entrust the government to the regular republican party again, which always begins a campaign with promises of action and then always, at the end, draws back and warns against change, dreading to attempt anything at all, for fear it should not satisfy those who control credit and whom it has so long permitted to act as trustees for the people in every matter of policy."

"Second—Place the guidance of their affairs in the hands of men who are searching about for some new way in which to perform old duties, all along plain and imperative, which can easily be performed without the invention of new methods—for example, without shifting the whole energy and initiative of the law to the executive branch of the government."

"Third—Go forward, without postponement or experiment or confusion, to effect the reforms which the whole country waits for, and which all parties profess to believe necessary, through the instrumentality of a great established and undivided party, clear and explicit as to its purposes, willing to effect them by the ordinary process of legislation; willing to be guided by the common counsel of the nation as a whole, the plain people with the rest, regardless of any interest, the little as well as the big, because connected with every interest by sympathy and comprehension, and so soberly determined to obey the voice of thoughtful men everywhere by a carefully considered course of moderate, yet courageous reform."

"The mere wise statement of the choices is a prediction. We shall trust ourselves and let the little groups of discoverers who would have us vest our powers in them learn, in their turn, and at their leisure, to trust us also."

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

dress concerning the Indiana republican state convention.

Hold Pennsylvania Trains.

A committee composed of one representative of the progressive, democratic and republican parties, waited on officials of the Pennsylvania railroad this morning, and the latter agreed to hold all early trains leaving the city until 8 o'clock, to give the traveling men whose homes are in Fort Wayne and opportunity to vote.

"The Pennsylvania company will also make arrangements to 'dead-head' its road employees back to the city tomorrow afternoon in time to cast their vote. That means that a railroad worker who is compelled to be at some other point along the line tomorrow, will be brought back to Fort Wayne during the day on some other train besides the one on which he leaves the city."

Prepare for Returns.
Labor, fraternal and social organizations of the city, and many places of business, have made special arrangements for receiving complete returns of the election. The returns will be received by telegraph in the different political headquarters, and at some of the hotels. The Elks' club, the Commercial club, the theaters and in fact dozens of other places where people congregate at night, have made arrangements for giving returns.

The Silent Vote.
Considerable speculation has been indulged in about the city concerning the rumored "silent vote." Republicans declare that the "silent" vote is going to Taft and the complete republican ticket, while on the other hand, the progressives declare that beyond the shadow of a doubt, the "silent vote is going to Roosevelt."

As a matter of fact, the democrats have thus far remained quiet on the "silent" vote. The democratic party leaders declare that there is no silent vote so far as the democratic party is concerned, for open expressions on the part of voters lead to the belief that there will be more democratic votes cast tomorrow than ever before in the history of the party. They say that the only silent vote possible is the vote of republicans who are going to support Wilson.

Expecting Big Vote.

A big vote is predicted for Allen county by all political leaders. More than 22,000 voters have registered, and are qualified in every particular to cast their vote, and it is believed that this number will vote, as it is contended that any man who interests himself enough to register, will be patriotic enough to vote. The polls will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, and during that time Allen county will poll the biggest vote ever cast since its organization as a county.

ATTENTION, DEMO- CRATS!

On account of the large number of voters in some of the big precincts, you are urged to get to the polls early in order that you will be sure to have your vote cast by 6 o'clock.

E. E. Dilline and Fred Egman came home from Dunkirk, N. Y. Saturday and will remain here until the polls are opened and they have deposited their votes, when they will leave for that city again. They are inspecting engine work for the Pennsylvania at the Brooks shops.

FORECASTS PICK WILSON WINNER

Newspaper Polls Indicate Sweeping Victory for Democrats.

OVER ENTIRE COUNTRY

New York, Nov. 4.—Estimates based on investigations by World correspondents in every state in the country of election results on Tuesday supply the following conclusions:

That Wilson and Marshall will carry 39 of the 48 states, with a total of 484 out of the 531 electoral votes.

That President Taft will carry seven states with a total of 32 electoral votes.

That Colonel Roosevelt will carry two states with a total of 15 electoral votes.

That the democrats will surely win three senate seats and have an overwhelmingly majority in the house.

That the popular plurality for Wilson and Marshall will exceed 2,500,000 votes.

That the plurality for Wilson and Marshall in New York state will approximate 120,000.

That Sulzer will have a plurality of at least 60,000 over Hedges, the regular republican candidate, who will in turn lead Straus, the progressive candidate.

GIVES WILSON 400.

Cincinnati Enquirer Poll Shows No Hope for Others.

Cincinnati, Nov. 4.—Newspaper poll of thirty-one states exclusive of the "solid south," conducted by the Cincinnati Enquirer, places the electoral vote under the following distribution:

Governor Wilson, 400; President Taft, 12; Mr. Roosevelt, 7, and 112 doubtful.

To Governor Wilson in the table are given 36. To President Taft, 3—Rhode Island, Utah and Wyoming. To Mr. Roosevelt is given one—Washington—while 8—California, Idaho, Illinois, Michigan, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and South Dakota—are classed as doubtful.

Of the 37 states wherein test ballots were taken Governor Wilson leads in 20, President Taft leads in 5 and Mr. Roosevelt in 8.

In the same group of states Mr. Roosevelt runs second in 21, Governor Wilson in 11 and President Taft in 5. The total number of votes taken throughout the country reached the imposing figure of 310,321, of which Governor Wilson received 133,702, or 36,253 more than Mr. Roosevelt and 67,499 more than the president.

cuit court, made today in the case of the state, on relation of the board of county commissioners against Quill to recover $1,208. The court sustained the demurrer filed by Quill's attorney, who contended that Quill acted under a federal law when he retained half the fees collected.

DEMAND VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 4.—No matter who is elected representative from Bartholomew county at the election tomorrow he will be besieged to vote for a law giving votes to women. This campaign will be conducted by the Bartholomew county branch of the Indiana Franchise league, organized here Saturday. The officers of the local branch are Miss Vida Newson, Mrs. Lucretia S. Condo and Miss Mary Veach.

GIRL'S CONDITION CRITICAL.

Noblesville, Ind., Nov. 4.—Dr. E. C. Lohrer, of this city, returned today from the bedside of Miss Mabel Dunn, of this city, who was shot while on a "coon hunt" at Maysville, Ky. He said the bullet lodged in the young woman's lung and it cannot be removed because of the girl's condition. Dr. Lohrer says Miss Dunn is in a critical condition.

PREDICTED HIS OWN DEATH.

Carmel, Ind., Nov. 4.—David O. Mann is dying at his home here of paralysis, after having predicted his own death less than a week ago. He is the father of Mrs. George Brunson, of Indianapolis, and Deputy County Clerk Reuben Mann, of this place.

ROCKVILLE SCHOOLS CLOSED.

Rockville, Ind., Nov. 4.—The public schools were closed today for a week by the health officers because of the death last night of Mary Connelly, aged 12, of diphtheria. She was a pupil in the sixth grade. The schools of Racoon township, southeast of here, closed last week on account of diphtheria.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Miss Helen Kierse was given a surprise that gave her much pleasure on Saturday afternoon at her home in Organ avenue by several of her intimate friends. The occasion was Miss Kierse's birthday anniversary and the time was spent in enjoying games of various kinds and a dinner afterwards.

Mrs. Gert Shober announces that there will be a meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis society of Fort Wayne tomorrow afternoon at the Commercial club at 4:30 o'clock.

Miss Luella Israel, of 1447 Taylor street, entertained a merry company of friends on Thursday evening at her home. The decorations were appropriate and pretty. Games were enjoyed. At a game of progressive rumm Miss Mollie Marhenke and Miss Leona Hockemeyer won the prizes. Miss Luella Blomberg won the prize in a contest of pumpkin seeds. A delicious supper was served. Miss Frieda Hockemeyer, of Monroeville, and Miss Marie Fuelling, of Decatur, were the out of town guests, and they spent the week-end with Miss Israel.

BANDIT IS SHOT DOWN IN STREET

Chicago Man, Ordered to Throw Up Hands, Uses
Pistol Instead.

OTHERS GET AWAY

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Rutherford B. Cooke, assistant secretary of the Chicago National League Baseball club, shot and killed one of two automobile bandits who attempted to hold him up early yesterday morning at Washington and North Oakley boulevards.

The bullet from his revolver, which he drew and fired while looking into the barrel of his assailant's weapon, ended the night ride of thieves who already had robbed one victim.

Edward Meyers, 25 years old, 221 East Adams street, was the man killed by the "cubs" official. His companion in the escape while Cooke, standing in the street emptied his revolver at the fleeing automobile.

Orders "Hands Up."
"Throw up your hands and turn over what you got," commanded the robber, pointing a revolver at his intended victim.

Right there there was a hitch in the plan, for the victim, carrying $200 in one pocket, carried a revolver in the other. Cooke obeyed, but as he did so he fired. The bullet entered Meyers' forehead directly above the nose, and killed him instantly.

"I was a little too quick for the fellow," Cooke told the police. "The bullet hit him and he staggered back and fell. His gun fell beside him."

After firing the remaining bullets in his revolver at the automobile in which Meyers' partner made his escape, Cooke telephoned the Warren avenue police. Women and men, many in their night clothing, surrounded the dead robber when a patrol wagon filled with policemen arrived.

Had Receipts of Stores.
Cooke, who owns cigar stores at 117 South LaSalle street and 1 North Wabash avenue, told the police that he had the night receipts of both places in his pocket and was walking east in Washington boulevard when an automobile, running in the same direction, drew up at the curb. Meyers, he said, jumped from the running board and ran toward him, waving a revolver and calling to him to hold up his hands.

Cooke was taken to Warren avenue police station, where it was said he would be held, although not locked in a cell, pending the outcome of the coroner's inquest. The body of the dead man also was taken to the station and identified by a surety company bond found in his pocket.

ROOSEVELT LEADS VOTE.

A presidential "straw" vote taken Sunday afternoon at the Seneca club rooms resulted as follows:
Wilson, 12; Roosevelt, 19; Taft, 0; Debs, 0.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORING TOWNS

DITCH OBJECTIONS WERE ELIMINATED

Over 900 Remonstrances, Most of Them from Allen, Set Aside in Little River Case.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 4.—Judge R. M. Van Atta, who has jurisdiction of the litigation arising from the Little River ditch case, Saturday dismissed over 900 personal remonstrances against the construction of a drain. He was ruling on motions of the local firm of Watkins & Butler, that the remonstrances be dismissed. The motions were sustained throughout.

Most of the remonstrances were those of persons living in Allen county, their objections being filed following the ten days allowed after service of notices of the proposed improvement. The last man was served in this case on March 16 of this year and the allotted time expired with March 26. The majority of the remonstrances were filed after the ten days had elapsed in the hope that they should be tried.

After ruling on the ten or twelve motions regarding the remonstrances, Judge Van Atta set Nov. 11 as the date for beginning the real trial on the issues of the case. The issues consist of a few remonstrances.

For the first day of the trial three remonstrances have been set. They are those of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and of two men, McCalland Branstator and George McCleary. McCleary and Branstator proved that they had not been properly served with notices and Judge Van Atta ruled that their remonstrances were valid and must be heard. The other few remonstrances that will be tried were filed by Whitley county residents.

The action of the Grant county jurist in dismissing 900 remonstrances is by far the most important development thus far in the famous litigation.

WILL SUE INTERURBAN.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 4.—Coroner Herman Thoma has filed his verdict in the death of John P. Mahoney, the L. E. & W. local conductor, who was killed in the yards here on October 4. The verdict shows death to have been accidental, but a damage suit may result as it is claimed the railroad ties at that point are too high off the grade, which caused the conductor to stumble and fall under the wheels of the train.

BROTHER DYING IN ARKANSAS.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 4.—William Walbert has gone to Batesville, Ark., in response to a message stating that his brother, George Walbert, formerly of this city, was in a dying condition from tuberculosis. The young man had been ill for several months, but his condition has never been reported as extremely serious.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores—Adv.

ELKHART COUNCIL PLANS COAL PROBE

Will Endeavor to Find Reason for High Price of Coal—A Combination is Charged.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 4.—An investigation of the high cost of anthracite coal in this city and the alleged existence of an unlawful combination of the coal dealers in Elkhart will be vigorously pushed by the city council, and other city officials according to statements made by City Attorney Robert E. Proctor.

The city council was influenced by the continued protest upon the part of the public to investigate the reason for the high cost of anthracite coal in Elkhart. Anthracite coal is being sold here for $10 a ton. The same price was being obtained in Goshen. However, the same coal is selling in Bristol at $8.25 and $8.50, retail, in South Bend.

Relative to the existence of an alleged dealers' combination the city attorney said: "It is certain that the coal business in the city, at least the majority of it, has been acquired by B. J. Godfrey & Sons. Their recent acquisition of business of deceased J. P. Sanders has given the company almost absolute control of the coal, lumber, lime and cement business of the city."

INTERURBAN KILLED COW.

Owner Has Brought Suit Against Company for $60 Damages.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 4.—Two new suits have been filed in the court of Squire J. K. Rinehart, one a damage suit growing out of the killing of a cow by an interurban car, and the other an attachment of household goods on a claim on a note.

The damage suit was filed by Andrew H. Reed against the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, and the demand is for $80, the alleged value of a cow belonging to Mr. Reed, which was killed by a traction car on June 5th last.

WARSAW IS GROWING.

Postmaster's Report Shows Increase in Population.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 4.—That Warsaw is growing rapidly in population and is also enjoying a steady increase in business is shown by figures prepared by Postmaster Eugene Alleman. According to actual figures, the three city carriers are today serving 760 more persons than they were slightly over a year ago. About a year ago there were 121 empty houses on the city routes. Today practically all of these are filled, besides from 35 to 50 new houses that were built during the past summer.

HAD FIGHT IN HUNTINGTON.

Farmer and Sons Came to Town and Filled Up on Booze.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 4.—John Bartram, farmer, living on the Markle road, and two of his sons are in jail and Edward "Big" Hoover is laid up with two cuts in his right side and back as the result of an affray near the Citizens' bank corner at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. One of the Bartrams, it is said, stabbed Hoover in a free-for-all fight when the Bartrams attacked the crowd of boys of which Hoover was a member. Bartram and his two sons had been in town all evening and had absorbed a good deal of whisky.

COLONEL DURBIN'S PROPOSITION TO REDUCE OUR TAXES

To the People of Indiana:

In 1902, as governor, I made the proposition to the taxpayers of the state if they would continue the republican finance board and give me a republican legislature to hold down appropriations, I would pay off all the state debt that could be paid or leave money in the treasury or on the tax duplicate to pay the remainder. I did it.

I now make the proposition that if elected governor I will pay off every dollar of the state debt and not raise the taxes one penny in so doing.

I paid $2,808,000 on the debt during my administration, largely through the application of business methods. A vote for me is a vote to pay off the debt and thereby reduce the taxes.

Take your choice, Mr. Taxpayer.

And Now the Verdict.

The millions of American voters will go to the polls tomorrow to pass judgment upon the issues of a striking and unusual campaign. There has been none other quite like it within the memory of living man, if, indeed, America has ever seen its parallel. It is a time when voting should not be done either blindly, hastily or as the result of narrow partisanship. It is a time when there should be thoughtful consideration of issues and conditions, and upon these alone should the decision be reached.

Nor should fear of commercial disaster or depression, held up as a specter in the closing hours of the campaign to frighten the man halting between two opinions, be allowed to influence any voter against his own sober judgment. In the words of Mr. Bryan, the sun will continue to shine whatever may be the result tomorrow, but the best type of popular government will come from the election of a president who is devoted to the welfare of the man rather than to the special interests of the few. There seems to be presented at this hour such an opportunity for the triumph of a people's cause as we have never known before.

Democracy, always the champion of popular welfare and always the foe of special privilege, has gotten still closer to the people in this year of 1912. It stands absolutely pledged to the reforms which the people are demanding. Without rant and without dramatics, it purposes a sincere effort to improve governmental conditions, to level manifest inequalities in the tariff that have saddled burdens upon the many that a few might satiate unholy greed. It would make no war on legitimate business; it simply demands the readjustment that will give every man a fair show, and this it proposes to bring about, in the words of Governor Wilson, by obedience to the voice of thoughtful men everywhere and "by a carefully considered course of moderate yet courageous reform."

The Sentinel believes the American people can safely entrust to Woodrow Wilson the gigantic task that will come with the assumption of the presidential office in March next, and it believes in the militantly progressive platform upon which democracy has this year gone before the people. It desires a full and free expression of the legitimate voters upon the issues, based not upon prejudices or fears or fanaticism, but upon the sober, patriotic judgment of the individual voter when he shall go to the polls tomorrow.

Voters of the Twelfth district will take especial pride tomorrow in piling up a handsome majority for Governor Marshall as the democratic nominee for vice president. Governor Marshall has always been a popular favorite in Northern Indiana, and the showing tomorrow promises to eclipse even the tremendous vote given him for the governorship four years ago.

It should be a genuine pleasure to Allen county voters to give support at the polls tomorrow to the democratic ticket. It is an excellent ticket, formulated by the people themselves at a primary, and it is the people's expression of their choice. As a matter of fact, the people did their work so well that the campaign has brought out no criticism of their selections.

Messrs. J. S. Peddicord and Frank DeHaven are the latest Fort Wayne men to advance the cause of parkways and beautification by the donation of lands to the city, having given a small but important tract along the Maumee in Lakeside. There is still abundant opportunity for others to earn the city's gratitude in similar fashion.

PREACHING AND SERVICE.

(Indianapolis Star.)

In all the cry about the waning influence of the church and the non-tendance of men at church we hear no complaint from the Roman Catholic authorities on this score. Through long centuries of experience it has learned how to enter so intimately into the lives of its people that its vitality suffers not at all from the mutations of time.

Doubtless the protestant denominations could not successfully follow the methods and organization of the Roman church, but they could with profit adopt the great principle of personal service and personal help. Mere preaching alone is not sufficient, however eloquent may be the oratory of the preacher. Nor can the church member be expected to do all the work of the organization and service with merely the benign approval of the minister. There is more for the pastor of a flock to do than to write a sermon or two per week and conduct a prayer meeting. Every once in a while some protestant minister builds up a tremendously successful congregation, but whenever we look into such a case we find that he is a tremendous worker, that he gets into close personal touch with his people, that he is preacher, pastor and minister all in one and that he finds endless work in all these departments of his sacred calling.

The theological schools find a dearth of students. If they will organize as religious training schools, if they will devote less attention to the abstract questions of theology and more to training young men to give the intimate and sympathetic personal service that counts for so much in church work, they will soon have students in plenty, for there will be a great demand for their graduates.

FLIES AND DISEASE ONCE MORE.

The United States public health service has now fully confirmed the announcement of Dr. Rosenau, of Harvard, at the International Congress of Hygiene, that infantile paralysis is communicated by the stable fly, Stomoxys calcitrans. This insect by biting injects the germ of the disease into the tissues of the victim, having become contaminated with the germ from a preceding patient.

It is possible, indeed even probable, that there are other modes of communication, but this one seems undoubted. It is but another indictment of the fly and of its most frequent source of incubation—horse excreta. Evidently the sooner horseless vehicles supersede entirely our animal drawn vehicles the better for the health of our cities.

The discovery is extremely interesting because it emphasizes once more that disease is not a vague danger from the air and other modes of infection difficult of avoidance, but that it is conveyed by very definite means, often parasitic in character, which man can eradicate simply enough by taking such measures with regard to cleanliness as will remove or safeguard the breeding places for these creatures. The disease prevention problem is thus ever being simplified. Infantile paralysis has been such a scourge for children in this country in recent years that any measures that promise to lessen it will be a great blessing.

BILLIONS OF SAVINGS.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

Speaking of prosperity, that is an impressive exhibit presented by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on the savings banks of the United States, a record in deposits and the greatest number of depositors in history.

Nearly 2,000 savings banks, holding aggregate deposits of almost four and a half billions of dollars for more than ten million depositors, the average deposit being $44, spells prosperity in letters nation-wide. And these figures were for last June, undoubtedly for exceeded during the period of expanding industrial and business activity since that date.

Compared with last year, the average deposit account has increased $14.55, while over 200,000 new depositors were added. The per capita savings in the country is $48.52, the highest on record. When it is remembered that the bulk of these deposits are the savings of wage-earners and that the country is just entering upon a period of unexampled progress consequent upon a ten billion crop, another new record, which can fail to be an optimist?

MORTALITY OF VICE-PRESIDENTS.

(New York World.)

In the history of this country seven vice-presidents have died in office and only five presidents, of whom three fell at the hands of assassins. The fate that was Mr. Sherman's was that of Clinton, Gerry, King, Wilson, Hendricks and Hobart.

On the other hand, while Mr. Roosevelt is the only living ex-president, four ex-vice-presidents, including Mr. Roosevelt, are still living. Levi P. Morton, who served with Harrison, is eighty-eight. Adlai E. Stevenson, who served with Cleveland during his second term, is seventy-seven.

Mr. Roosevelt has just celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday. Charles W. Fairbanks, Mr. Sherman's predecessor, is sixty.

Mr. Sherman died relatively young, younger than any of the other vice-presidents before him who died in office. Thomas A. Hendricks was sixty-six at the time of his death, and Garret A. Hobart fifty-eight. Clinton lived to be seventy-three, Gerry to be seventy. King to be sixty-seven and Wilson to be sixty-three.

ANOTHER STRAW VOTE.

Editor Sentinel: At the shoe repair shop in the Bank block on East Main street, there was a straw vote taken during the closing days of the last week. Each customer as he came in was given a blank ballot and was asked to vote his favorite. The ballot was then put through a slot in the tin ball box and on Saturday one of the editors of the Journal-Gazette was asked to open and count the ballots. The result was as follows: Roosevelt, 100; Wilson, 45; Taft, 17; Debs, 7; Chaifin, 1.

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A SOLDIER OF THE SKY—SHEPHERD FLIES WITH EUROPE'S MOST DARING AIRMAN.

Most Feared Soldiers in the World, the Military Aeroplanists, Who Are Today Fighting on Both sides in Balkans—Story of Trip With Aviator Bregi.

(By William Shepherd.)

Paris, Nov. 4.—You have read of the Italian and German aviators who are flying with the Bulgarian armies in the Balkans.

The cables have told you, I think, of the French aviators who were called at the last minute to Constantinople to help the Turkish armies.

Today the most feared soldier in Europe is the aeroplane operator. And the greatest of these are the flying men of France.

I have just had the most thrilling experience of my life—a ride into the clouds with the most skillful air soldier in the French army—Henri Bregi.

I wanted to find out by the closest personal observation, in order that I might tell American readers about it, how these army dare devils act in the air, how they spy out things a thousand feet below them on the earth—in a word, WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A SOLDIER OF THE BLUE HEAVENS.

But before I write of my flight in the French army aeroplane, let me tell about this remarkable soldier—Henri Bregi.

All France has lately rung with his exploits. During the recent maneuvers, when the great French army was divided into Blues and Reds, Bregi returned after a flight one morning and said to General Dubois:

"General Marion of the Red army and his staff are in a little town at your rear."

"Impossible!" said the Blue general. "His army is in front of me."

"He's there, just the same," said Bregi. "I saw him and his small force from my aeroplane."

Unbelieving, the Blue general sent a small force to the town. They returned with General Marion and his staff prisoners.

This arrest, of course, ended the maneuvers.

During the recent French troubles in Morocco 200 French soldiers were besieged in Fez, holding the Moroccans at bay. One morning these soldiers saw an aeroplane in the sky. It dropped in a park, and down among the French soldiers stepped another French soldier—Bregi. He had been ordered from a point sixty miles away, to fly to Fez. And he had flown.

He sailed away again, with the Moroccan guns popping at him, vainly, and within a few days the French soldiers were relieved. Their general had not known of their plight until Bregi told his story.

I'd as lief fly with Bregi as ride in a taxicab.

"Crawl in," he said to me from his perch. I took the chair-like seat in front of him. Right before me was the huge propeller. A mechanic gave it a turn. We started to move slowly, the plane jolted slightly over the field, and presto—we were a hundred feet in the air.

The 100 horse-power engine was whirling the propeller so rapidly that I couldn't see the blades. We rose to 4,000 feet. The wind was terrific. I wondered how the turning would feel.

Suddenly the earth below us rocked crazily. Bregi and I and the aeroplane appeared to be the only level things in the universe. Just when it looked as if the whole earth had tipped up and that the houses in the city of Versailles beneath us would slip off into the west, with the setting sun, everything became steady again.

I turned to look at Bregi. There the soldier sat, leaning back in his chair like a man in a Morris chair, smiling.

I looked along the planes that were holding us aloft. They were quivering. The network of wires was singing in the wind. Everything was vibrating intensely. Only the utmost energy was keeping us aloft. It was not the flight of a bird, but a battle with the atmosphere.

Bregi slackened the engine and we slid down in rapid volplanes. My heart didn't keep its place. I could see every blade of the propeller. At last it stopped. The earth tipped. The scenery skidded. At an alarming angle the landscape rushed upward at us. I was enjoying one of Bregi's famous spiral volplanes. My insides were askew. Then came the gentle jolt of the wheels on the turf. Bregi had picked out a spiral path in the sky a mile long, ending at the hangar, and had followed it to a "T."

In France there will soon be an even more up-to-date air-soldier than Bregi and his 200 comrades. He will sit in an aeroplane behind a machine gun that fires 400 shots a minute, aiming his gun at objects below him, no matter how crazily the earth is rocking.

The aeroplane is now being built. It will carry two tons. In it will be the pilot, two machine guns, two gun operators and several hundred pounds of ammunition.

Within an hour they could kill an army. They might throw a pall of death over an entire city, falling alike on soldiers and women, on forts, hospitals and peaceful homes.

It is too terrible to be true. But it is true.

CALVARY U. B. CHURCH.

The Good Cheer Bible class of the Calvary U. B. church will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Grace Blake, 1914 Force street.

The Women's Missionary society will hold its November meeting Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Theodore Titus, corner of Thomas and Buchanan streets.

Was Splendid Sermon.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. H. B. Master, at the morning service Sunday at the First Presbyterian church, the sermon was preached by Rev. T. P. Potts, the superintendent of the Fort Wayne Gospel Mission, who used as his text the words of Jehovah to Moses, "Take the shoes from off thy feet, the place on which thou standest is holy ground." It was a splendid discourse, replete with grand thought and interest and held a large audience interested throughout. The central thought was the need on the part of Christian people of a higher plane of consecrated living, a devotion to the service of God that would accomplish greater results for his kingdom and the happiness and eternal welfare of the race.

St. John Reformed Church.

Large audiences attended the mission day services, morning and evening, held Sunday at the St. John Reformed church. Rev. F. W. Leish, of Marion, O., preached in German at the morning service and in English in the evening. Both sermons were able. Communion services were held both in the morning and evening. Rev. Ph. Vollmer, of the Salem church, and Rev. J. H. Busch, assisted the pastor, Rev. J. H. Busch, in the communion service in the evening.

Forty hours Devotions.

The forty hours devotions at the Church of the Precious Blood came to a close last evening with a large congregation attending. Bishop Alving officiated and twelve priests participated in the procession. The sermon was preached by Rev. Didius Brickman, C. P. S., of Carthagenia, O.

Sunday School Workers.

The graded union of Sunday School Workers and Teachers met yesterday afternoon at the Third Presbyterian church. The speaker was Miss Pauline Roth, who told of the international conference held at Winona in August.

The Philathea Class.

The Philathea class of the First M. E. church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Parham, 621 West DelVal's street.

eleventh hour details as to plans to bring all the voters to the polls. The progressives purpose to carry the campaign on almost until the polls open with a number of neighborhood meetings.

IN OHIO.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 2.—With the arrival of President Taft tonight the preliminaries to probably the most strenuous presidential campaign that Ohio has ever endured will come to an end while the state campaign will wind up with Democratic gubernatorial Nominee James Cox addressing a meeting in Toledo. The other state leaders as well as nominees for governor, are B. R. Brown, republican, and A. L. Garford, progressive, are either at their homes or on their way there to vote tomorrow. Both the republican and progressive national and state campaigns practically came to a close Saturday night and with the exception of a few minor meetings here and there, these two parties will do nothing today but play a waiting game.

IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—There was little surprise of political activity in Illinois today. Contrary to custom, which sets aside the day before election for rest and review of work done, many candidates and their friends kept up the speech-making. Republican, democratic and progressive leaders alike claimed victory in the state, but tangible basis for the predictions was lacking and the voter faced one of the most puzzling situations ever developed in Illinois politics.

Roosevelt partisans claimed to have won over a good percentage of the Bryan vote of 1908, but this was strenuously denied by Wilson men, who said their candidate would receive his full party vote and also a liberal share of the ballots cast for President Taft four years ago.

The Taft managers acknowledged that the progressives would profit by republican defections, but said neither Roosevelt nor Wilson would gain sufficiently to overcome the republican plurality of 100,000 recorded in 1908.

All three parties have made hard campaigns for their state tickets. Friends of Gov. Deneen expressed encouragement because of eleventh hour announcement of support for him from sources which have been advocating the election of the progressive national ticket. The other candidates said this development did not worry them.

IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—Noonday mass meetings at the large industrial establishments in the state held principally by Washington party workers, who are supporting the progressive candidate on the national and state tickets, marked the end today of the speech-making feature of the political campaign. There are eleven tickets in the field in this state, eight of which have a full list of presidential electors. The Roosevelt electors appear on three of these tickets, under the titles of "bull moose," "Roosevelt progressives" and "Washington party." The Taft electors appear but once, as do also the Wilson electors. The other three tickets carry the electors of the prohibitionists, socialists and industrialists.

IN KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—Managers of the three major parties in Kentucky today perfected their respective plans for mustering a complete vote in tomorrow's elections and for obtaining early returns from the remote mountain districts. While heads of each party, respectively, forecast success, yet democratic workers were insistent upon pointing to their victory in the 1911 state elections.

IN TENNESSEE.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Concluding their campaign with rallies throughout the state today democratic leaders declared Tennessee would align itself in the Wilson column tomorrow. While three active presidential tickets and congressional tickets have had a bearing on the three cornered gubernatorial campaign yet, it was declared the result was between Gov. Hooper, republican candidate, and Benton McMillin, his democratic opponent.

IN MISSISSIPPI.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 4.—Adherents of the progressive party declare today that the normal democratic majority in Mississippi will be greatly reduced in tomorrow's election.

IN ARKANSAS.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 4.—Democratic managers claim that Arkansas will give their tickets its usual large majority. Leaders of other parties are making no claims.

IN DELAWARE.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 4.—Delaware's voters are awaiting the opening of the polls tomorrow. The campaign oratory is over and final instructions to party workers were issued today.

IN MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Except for a few scattering rallies throughout the state tonight the presidential campaign in Michigan is closed. Campaign committees of all parties today devoted their energies to perfecting their plans for getting out a full vote. Registration has been heavy and with favorable weather a record poll is anticipated.

IN MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—A few speeches and minor political meetings are scheduled for the last day of the campaign in Missouri, although the state organizations finished their work with Saturday night rallies. Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for president, will make several speeches in St. Louis and East St. Louis.

IN MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 4.—While there will be but one or two political meetings in Minnesota today leaders for the three big parties are not resting and a large amount of quiet work is being done on the last day of the campaign. It is generally conceded that the legislature will again have a large republican majority.

IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 4.—A heavy vote is expected tomorrow despite the fact that the campaign is said to have been the quietest in the state's history and to have furnished much less excitement than that of last spring, when Senator LaFollette defeated Roosevelt in the primaries.

IN NEW JERSEY.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 4.—Except for the two addresses to be delivered at Passaic and Patterson this evening by Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the campaign in this state is practically at an end. There will be a few scattered meetings this evening, and the leaders will devote themselves to arranging to get out the vote tomorrow.

IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 4.—The last word in the presidential and gubernatorial campaigns in this state is being spoken today and the eve of election finds the three candidates for the head of the state ticket winding up their canvasses with speeches in and about this city. All sides make claims of victory and with a forecast of fair weather certain today it is predicted a heavy vote will be polled.

IN NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 4.—A final appeal to the republicans of the state to vote for Taft was issued early today by the republican state committee. Democratic managers continue confident that Wilson will win by a large plurality.

IN MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—With the campaign in Maryland brought to a close last Saturday night the party managers today devoted their efforts to the completion of plans for bringing out the vote tomorrow.

IN WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 4.—The various political managers today prepared to close their headquarters. That tomorrow's election will be close both for a national and a state standpoint is still the view taken by the general public.

IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 4.—Although the campaign in South Dakota practically closed Saturday night meetings were held at various points in the state today. It is difficult to make a reliable prediction as to what the outcome will be.

IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Nov. 4.—The national and state campaign in Massachusetts continued today with vigor. All the political captains in the state expressed confidence in the result tomorrow.

IN MAINE.

Portland, Me., Nov. 4.—Political managers in Maine agreed today that with good weather this state should cast a record presidential vote. The brunt of the speaking campaign has been borne by the progressives, although the republicans held many rallies last week. The principal activity of the republicans and democrats has been toward organized efforts to get the voters to the polls.

ATTENTION, VOTERS

Vote for the Republican Legislative Candidates. They are right on the road question. They are opposed to a vehicle tax; opposed to the creation of a horde of high-salaried road officials; opposed to bonding the state to build highways.

Carmel, Ind., Nov. 4.—Robert Lancaster, who was older than the state of Indiana, having been born Jan. 12, 1816, and Indiana not becoming a state until the following December, died at the home of his daughter near here yesterday.

Mr. Lancaster came to Indiana in 1852, walking all the way from North Carolina.

SEVERAL HEAVY FINES ASSESSED

John Gorman Gets $100 and Costs for Assault and Battery.

GAMBLERS PAY FINES

City Clerk Jeffries was loaded down with cash this morning as the result of many fines assessed against offenders in the city court today. More than $300 was received in payment of fines imposed by Judge Mungovan.

John Gorman was hit the hardest when he was fined $100 and costs for assault and battery. A thirty-day jail sentence against him was suspended during good behavior. Gorman was found guilty of striking Frank Hassert without any provocation. His only excuse was that he was drunk, but Judge Mungovan extends no leniency on that score.

Walter Werley, charged with running a gaming house, was fined $50 and costs and the five gamblers caught in the raid of the rooms at 209 West Main street last Thursday night, were each fined $15 and costs. The men were represented by counsel, but were not in court.

Henry Kellermeyer was found guilty of assault and battery on Leon Wheeler and paid a fine of $10 and costs for the pleasure of soaking Wheeler in the eye.

Albert Jackson was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Omar Williams, charged with loitering, was fined $10 and costs and James Connors was assessed $5 and costs for a similar offense.

The case against William Walke, for surety of the peace, was continued for thirty days.

William Fronfield, charged with selling a ran of lard which was several pounds short of the amount it was said to contain, drew a continuance until Nov. 6.

Fred Hackman, charged with vagrancy, had his case continued until next Monday, and is held under bond of $100.

George Grace, charged with trespass also drew a continuance until Monday. His bond was fixed at $200.

O. F. Cissell, up for drunkenness, had his case continued until Saturday, and his bond fixed at $100.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Marx Frank, in Washington boulevard west, was converted into a flower garden today for every room is filled with gifts from friends in this city and from away, of gorgeous chrysanthemums, American beauty and other roses besides many flowers of less pretension in size, but none the less sweet or attractive. There are hundreds of the beautiful flowers and the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank at 1 o'clock today in honor of the family and out of town relatives was noted for its beauty of arrangements. The table was laden with handsome tributes of love and esteem in the way of silver, glass and china with yellow chrysanthemums filling the vases and yellow candles burning in the lovely white and gold candlesticks. The menu expressed as much as possible the yellow and white coloring so significant of this golden wedding day which Mr. and Mrs. Frank are celebrating. There were covers for fourteen. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frank gave a dinner party at their home in West Wayne street, in honor of Mr. Frank's parents and visiting guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schloss, of St. Joe, Mo. Mrs. Schloss is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marx Frank. The diningroom and dinner table was artistically decorated in yellow chrysanthemums, and all appointments were very elegant. There were covers for sixteen at the dinner.

Miss Keturah Williams, of West Butler street, entertained a dozen young women on Saturday afternoon who brought their sewing and visited with the honor guest, Mrs. J. Roger Golden, of Des Moines, Ia., who is visiting Miss Williams. There were cosmo and chrysanthemums in shades of pink together with pink hooded candles and pink frosted cake to further the pretty color plan of the afternoon and the tempting supper the hostess served.

Mrs. George Koons, of West Wayne street, gave a party of very pretty appointments on Saturday afternoon, thus complimenting Miss Clara Gross, an elected bride of the month. There were a dozen girlhood friends and they showered Miss Gross with pretty gifts of linen. Pink roses formed the center decoration of the supper table and small pink candles were used in lighting, one at each place.

The guests for the afternoon were Misses Elsie Jesse, Bessie Orr, Edith Stecker, Clara Miller, Hazel Develheimer, Florence O'Laughlin, Anna Kretzinger and Mrs. D. H. Stoakes. Mrs. C. F. Mize, Mrs. Vince Robbins, Mrs. A. J. Gross, Mrs. E. Hawk, Mrs. C. L. W. Gross. Mrs. Koons was assisted during the afternoon by her mother, Mrs. George Betzler.

WHAT A WOMAN DREAMS WHEN UNDER AN ANAESTHETIC.

A Strange, Beautiful Spiritual Experience Described by the One Who Felt It.

(Editor's Note—Spiritual experiences of women are rarely told, but always extremely interesting. What the "soul" sees and thinks and does, independent of the "body," yet while the body is passing through some unusual physical experience—that is the true story of our emotions. The experience herewith related is from an article in the November Woman's Home Journal.)

BY THE WOMAN IN THE HOSPITAL.

There is absolutely no apparent lapse between the final point before losing consciousness and the first point of returning consciousness. In my case there was a two hours' interval. Those two hours do not exist. They are not a blank; they simply are not. One instant I was floating off in black, roaring space, the very next instant floating back through alternate humming black tunnels and milky white silences, which Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gerke, of West DeWald street, are members. The day was the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gerke and for that reason they took more pains to have elaborate decorations and an especially fine supper to entertain their club friends. The rooms were decorated with foliage and chrysanthemums beautifully arranged.

Miss Cecile Connett, of Hale avenue, entertained a company of young friends on Thursday evening with games, music and dancing, followed by excellent refreshments. Music was furnished by Miss Lucile Paxton, Miss Hilda Plate-man, Miss Clara Fox and Louis Scherer and by the Gibson Plectrum orchestra. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. The guests were Misses Clara Fox, Bertha and Hilda Reidori, Irene and Anna Curtis, Isabel Strube, Alice Thompson, Hilda Plate-man, Dora and Violet Wheeler, Edna Gaskill, Grace Scherer, Linda Krockenberger, Margaret and Marie McKering, Lucile Paxton and Messrs. Earl Paxton, John McKering, Louis Scherer, Edward Buford, John Stetter, Edward Buuck, Edward Bronzberger, Ferd Smith, Ralph and Lawrence Suter, George Sullivan, Harold Tittle, Albert Butz, Charles Fletcher, Otto Niemeier, George Boone, Dennis McKering.

To prevent flour from lumping easily, and to overcome the raw taste that sometimes clings to it when it is used for thick gravies, soups and sauces, bake it in an oven until it is thoroughly heated. Prepare a small quantity at a time, and keep it in a covered receptacle.

with a great luminous truth penetrating every fiber of my being. I came back to consciousness aware of hugging to my heart a great certainty which I must on no account allow to escape me. Then I became aware of a wonderful being bending august eyes upon me, and touching my head and wrist with healing touch. This Olympian creature gradually resolved herself into my nurse, and I did not at first know whether my great and joyous news came to me from her, or whether I was imparting it to her, as being the first person I was encountering to whom I could convey the glad tidings; but as consciousness grew and grew I found myself in my bed, with the peaceful clear creamy walls of the little hospital room about me, and my beautiful nurse bending over me, and I heard myself sobbing out ecstatically the broken words over and over, unable to let go of them long enough to stop myself, afraid to stop myself lest they should leave me. "Everything is God, and God is love; and love is everything, and everything is God," and on and on. What words to come bearing back from oblivion! I feel I must blush to repeat them to you, they must seem to you so trite; but I felt I had never understood them before.

The operation, and all connected with it, was intensely interesting; for it is in such circumstances that you discover the truth about things that seem terrible. You think you are about to be subjected to torture, and you find yourself undergoing a great and beautiful spiritual experience; you unmask bugaboos, and find them innocent, smiling cherubs; you think you have to leap over a wide chasm with a snaky green torrent roaring deep down below, and you find yourself instead treading a pleasant, flower-starred meadow, and it is all in the attitude and in the frame of mind. It lies with you.

Mrs. Mary Jordan Reaches Age of 80

MRS. MARY JORDAN.

When Mrs. Mary A. Jordan, who lives two miles west of the city, returned home after attending mass at the Church of the Precious Blood on Sunday morning it was to find a gathering of her eleven children with their families present to give her many greetings. The day was the eightieth anniversary of Mrs. Jordan's birth which occurred in Alsace, France, in 1832. On July 29, 1850, Mrs. Jordan came to this country and she was married two years later on May 31, 1852, to George Jordan in St. Mary's Catholic church by Father Falles. Thirteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, of whom two died in infancy. The death of Mr. Jordan occurred in March, 1894, and since that time Mrs. Jordan has lived with some one of her children, who are George S., Edward, Joseph, Aloys, John, Frank, Anthony, Henry and William Jordan. Mrs. Mary Niebel and Mrs. Otto F. Gunkle. There are forty-six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren in the family. A picture of the family gathering was taken by George Niebel and a group of four generations of the family. A big dinner was enjoyed and Mrs. Jordan received many useful and appropriate gifts from her family and many good wishes from her many friends.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Price" Tonight—Election Day Matinee Tomorrow.

Clarence Bennett and company will bring Edna Marshall to the Majestic this evening and Tuesday and Wednesday, with a Tuesday matinee. She will appear in "The Price," by George Broadhurst. This very human story of the indiscretion of a young girl and the penalty she eventually has to pay created a lot of discussion in the metropolis, where the piece ran last fall at the Hudson theater. It was declared to be another "Camille," and Miss Marshall is unreservedly accorded the laurels of now being one of America's youngest emotional actresses because of her magnificent portrayal of the role of Ethel Toscani, the young secretary to the artist. Election returns will be read from the stage Tuesday evening.

"The Great Divide" Next.
A play in which a Puritan maiden of decided New England traditions attempts to regenerate a product of the wild and famed west and in which she experiences the entire run of the gamut of passion—"The Great Divide," which will be the attraction Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee at the Majestic theater, with Albert Phillips and Leila Shaw assaying the roles made famous by Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller.

WATCH YOURSELF!

When you sit do you lean forward as though your waist were a joint? Do you "flap down" in a soft sort of meaningless cramped heap when you stop to speak to a person on the street or when you slip into a chair to rest? Do you walk with your shoulders back and your head in its proper place or do they droop miserably as if you had lost every vestige of energy and your last friend, too?

The muscles of the body are wonderfully pliable and seem almost anxious to follow your bidding. Give them a chance to make you proud of yourself. A little practice will do it. Watch yourself!

THE CLEANING OF LACE.

Cleaning of fine lace is an operation demanding a degree of minute care, and also vigilant attention; it is so extremely delicate that the threads are liable to break at the slightest touch, even by skilled fingers. Lace is so much worn at the present time that it may not be out of place to give a few hints upon the cleaning of it. All lace requires to be carefully washed or cleansed, especially antique or very old lace.

Blond or point narrow lace must not be rubbed. The best manner is to cover a bottle with a white linen cloth, and wind the lace round and round it, securing each end with a needle and thread. Do not have the edge outward, but carefully cover as you proceed. Lay the bottle in a strong, hot water made with soap jelly and leave it for a night. Next day clap the lace between the hands, and carefully rub the soapy water up and down it; then lay the bottle again in a hot, clear water and tap again.

Put the bottle in a cold rinsing water, slightly blued; then place it in the sun to bleach. When perfectly white remove the lace from the bottle and slightly damp it with the thinnest of starch water, roll in a dry cloth, and when nearly dry pin out upon a cushion or pillow, covered with a clean, tight case. Every scallop must have a separate pin, or more of the scallops are very large. The straight edge should be pinned down also, so as to make it straight and even; the pins should be of the smallest size, and the points of the pins toward you.

When quite dry, remove from the pillow or cushion and place it quite straight, with the points of the lace away from you; upon a thick blanket three times folded. Cover the lace with a cloth and press carefully. The iron should not be too hot. Lay in loose folds in paper boxes. Thread or Spanish lace may be treated in the same manner.

To clean white veils put the veil in a solution of pure white soap water and allow it to simmer for ten minutes. Drain carefully and put it in some warm water, squeeze it two or three times to rinse it free from soap, and then pass it through clean cold water to which has been added a little liquid blue. Pour a pint of boiling water upon a teaspoonful of starch dampened with cold water, and pass the veil through it. Clap it well between the hands; pull out to shape carefully, and pin every point down, keeping the edges quite straight.

THE CHARM OF THE BELT.

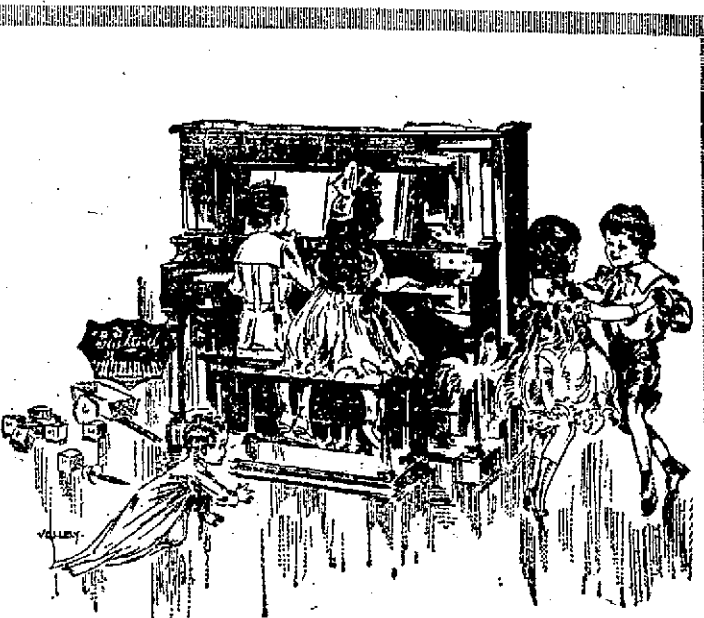

Absolutely novel is a belt of about twenty strands of white cotton divided equally and then pleated. At intervals of its length the braiding is caught down beneath small cabochons of artistically twisted cording, and at each end of the strand is a twisted loop of the braiding which is drawn backward and bound over a cabochon.

Two of these strands, measuring about twelve inches each, are joined at the back of a frock and in front, and a hook and eye concealed by the center ornaments keep the girdle in position.

Furniture tapestry may be made into a belt to give a final touch of smartness to an autumn jacket of the unconventional lace and Ottoman silk kind. The belt consists of a three to four-inch wide strip gauged over a black satin lining and fastened under a huge buckle of gauged black satin centered with a bar of the tapestry.

Picot edged taffeta ribbon of a very wide mesh measurement is finely pleated into a narrow belt fastened with a buckle made of the gauged ribbon.

A favorite device of the wise dressmaker is a broad belt with supports at the back. Worn with a floppy frock, such as an evening gown, for the country house, easy, unpretentious and yet elegant, it keeps the limp folds together and prevents a sloppy and untidy effect.

YOUTH craves entertainment. And what more entertaining than a Packard in the home? A Packard home is a joyous home,—it bubbles over with contentment.

TAFT IN PLEA FOR OLD GUARD

President Urges Continuation of Republicans in Power.

HE CITES HIS REASONS

New York, Nov. 4.—President Taft issued the following statement here last night, shortly before his departure for Cincinnati:

"On the eve of the national election it is suitable that a short summary should be made of the reasons why the republican party is entitled to support. That party for four years has been responsible for the administration of the government and has left a record of success in effective and efficient executive administration and of legislative accomplishment that is not surpassed by any administration since the war. "It has changed a deficit of more than $50,000,000 to a surplus of more than $30,000,000 by increasing the revenue and by reducing governmental expenses.

"Its achievements in legislation show that it has made definite progress so far as national legislation can produce progress in statutes looking to the aid and relief of those classes in the community who have had reasons heretofore to complain of the unjust operation of the laws governing their relation to employers and to the community at large. The modern tendency to use governmental agencies to better the general condition of the people by giving an equal opportunity to all has been fully recognized in this legislation and practical steps have been taken to satisfy it.

"The republican tariff legislation of the congress of 1909, while not perfect, has actually reduced excessive tariff rates and has yet retained the protective features which have been so instrumental in creating industrial prosperity.

"In view of what has been done in the past four years the republican party should not now be turned out of office. Its promises have been complied with, real progress has been effected, and its conduct of the economic policies of the government has been such as to make it possible for the country to enjoy and prolong the widespread and growing prosperity now at hand.

"Now if the republican party is turned out of office, what party is to succeed? One of the opposing parties was scarcely four months ago a part of the republican party itself. It has adopted a platform attacking the existing constitution of the country, promising an attempt to destroy the independence of the judiciary, and proposing measures which would sap the foundations of representative democratic constitutional government. It offers to the public a program of supposed benefits which are not within the ability of a national party to accomplish and offers remedies for alleged evils in our present conditions that are impracticable and inconsistent with each other. The so-called progressive party is necessarily a minority party. A vote for it cannot tend to establish its power or its principles but can only be a vote against the republican party and for the democratic party.

"The democratic party declares in favor of a tariff for revenue only and holds that a protective tariff is not only unwise but also unconstitutional. The changes proposed by the democratic party may fairly be judged by the bills passed by the democratic majority in the last congress which I vetoed.

"The experience in the history of the country in 1893 and 1894 will be recalled, when a period of great prosperity was succeeded by a period of great depression in the business of our country. This was due to the threatened and actual change from a tariff for protection to a tariff for revenue. It ought to warn every business man, every workman and every farmer who counts upon the home market for the sale of his products, to cast his vote to retain the present administration and defeat the effort to put into force the economic views of the democratic party which, if successful, will halt the coming of prosperity, paralyze business, and repeat the severe experiences of the years from 1893 to 1897."

ROOSEVELT IN FINAL APPEAL

Pleads for Popular Support of Progressive Movement.

SCORES OLD PARTIES

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 4.—At the end of the hardest campaign of his career in politics, Colonel Roosevelt last night made his final appeal to voters on behalf of the progressive ticket. Except for two speeches today in his home county, he had ended the struggle which has kept him hard at work since he threw his hat into the ring last spring. He spent the day with his family and was so far recovered from the bullet wound that his physicians permitted him to go to church.

Colonel Roosevelt gave out his statement of November 4 as his appeal on the day before election. He urged every voter to read the progressive party's platform before going to the polls.

"I wish to appeal as strongly as I can," his statement reads, "to the women and men of this country, to all good citizens throughout the union and ask them to support this great progressive movement for righteousness and for fair dealing. The progressive movement is in the interest of every honest man and woman in the land, and therefore we have a right to ask that all good citizens, without regard to their past political affiliations, shall stand with us in this fight for clean politics and for the square deal in industry. "Only the progressive party has faced the real and vital issues of the day. Not only are both of the old parties boss-ridden and privilege-controlled, but they are wedded to the dead issues of a vanished past and they show not the slightest conception of the day nor of the steps needed to be taken if grave disaster to the nation in the future is to be avoided.

"The progressives and the progressives alone have seen that it is utterly useless to hope (and to our minds entirely pernicious to desire) that a great people living under the forms of a political democracy and skilled by universal education, will long continue to tolerate in economic matters the reign of an industrial oligarchy, the entrenchment of privilege and a permanent and widespread inequality of opportunity. Neither in the platforms of the old parties nor in the utterances of their candidates and leaders do we see the slightest sign of an appreciation of this great fundamental issue.

"We intend to use the forces of government to secure justice and fair play between man and man, man and woman, not only in the political, but the industrial world. We recognize that it is the duty of all of us to so shape conditions as to secure favorable economic surroundings for the average man, who is honest and industrious. We do not regard economic well-being as the be-all and end-all of life, but we regard it as the indispensable foundation, and upon it we intend to raise the superstructure of a higher life.

"Not since the days of Abraham Lincoln has there been any public document in America comparable with the progressive platform. I urgently ask every voter in the United States to read that platform this very day and ponder over it, and tomorrow cast his vote having in mind what is said in that platform. It does not contain a promise which ought not to be made. It does contain every promise which, in view of our present conditions, ought to be made. Every promise it contains is ever promise which it contains will be kept.

(By J. Campbell Cory.)

Not so, my child, the eyes of Europe are not focused today upon the going in and the coming out of Woody Wilson, nor listening to the twitter of hope from the white house or the howlings of the bull moose.

Nix, little one. Europe is too all-fired busy just now watching the "movies" along the Turkish-Balkan frontier and whetting up their carving knives for the big feed. Europe has just awakened to the fact that Monte, Negro and Turkey have practically cornered the Constantinople market and is going after all the Constantinople it can get.

Some years ago—a little over a hundred—my friend, Napoleon, got this Constantinople craving and allowed that he'd take a week's vacation and jolly well annex the whole oriental dump. The mill went the limit and Napoleon lost the decision largely because John Bull, who refereed the scrap, was prejudiced, having a side bet on the Turk.

Every little while since then some "white hope" has tackled the job, but, although several claim to have had him groggy, the "terrible" Turk has yet to receive a knock-out punch.

All this, mind you, the various sultans have periodically relaxed from their sterner duties of conducting their barons for the purpose of promoting the general welfare and atoning their sins by lavishly diminishing the Balkan population. The Turk has found this pretty good sport, so that wholesale murder has really become a fascinating form of recreation with him.

Perchance his favorite Circassian beauty would whimperingly complain that he had disturbed her by his snoring on the previous night.

"Snough!" says the sultan. "By the beard of Allah thou shalt see, O moon of the universe, that I shall make fitting atonement! What, Wazir, Hol Slaughter me a thousand Bulgars and five hundred Greeks, and burn me a Servian city of second class!"

The wazir would sleepily communicate the sultan's orders to the head butcher and to the chief of the royal fire department, and these amiable gentlemen would fare forth upon their pleasant errand, surrounded by trusty assistant butchers and torch bearers, and the job would be done in a very natty and workmanlike manner, while the diamond-eyed Circassian lady would purr and coo her appreciation and playfully tweek the sultan's whiskers and declare that she was only fooling, anyhow, and that he really snored just too awfully cute for anything.

Now, there is not spot on the map where they take a joke with better grace than over there in the Balkans, and for a long time the Greeks and Bulgarians and Montenegrins and Servians and all the other little quarter-section neighbors of the Turk took it for granted that the sultan had to be amused.

But of late certain agitators and business agents have been at work, with the result that a general strike has been organized and the Balkans have balked. They have absolutely declined to be murdered except during union hours and they insist upon regulating the supply and demand.

Naturally the Ottoman empire couldn't stand for any such insubordinate tendencies. It annoyed the sultan and the Circassian squab and the wazir. Relations became strained between the jolly Balkan and the haughty Turk and the former suddenly flared up and kicked the latter in the slats, thereby simultaneously unsettling the Turkish gall-bladder and the sacred traditions of many centuries.

Of course, they went to the mat as soon as the astonished plotocrat of the Bosphorus had readjusted his liver and recovered his wind. Up to date the bout has been pretty one-sided in favor of Kid Balkan, who, as we go to press, has a strangle hold upon his adversary with one hand, while with the other he is reaching out for Constantinople—the big punch that goes with the light-heavy championship of the Balkan region. Should he cop the title he will have to defend it against all Europe, individually and collectively, but it is probable that "Knock-out Nick," the Russian bear-cat, will be given an early preference.

FORCE HANDICAP ON BOTH CITIES

Erie and Youngstown Only Towns That Kick on a Split League.

OTHERS ARE PLEASED

If public sentiment is reflected in the leagues only Youngstown and Erie are dissatisfied with the action of the directors at the meeting here last week and if the tentative plans are followed these two cities will start under handicaps in the first place newspapers in each of these cities took up the cudgel at once against being badly fired out of Class B ball after it had been played one season and the sentiment created by stories that have been published is sure to be echoed in the attendance next season. Owners of these clubs came up against a pretty tough sort of a proposition. Their patrons became naturally a little inflated when the teams finished well up in the race during their first season in a higher class baseball than the towns had ever had before. As a matter of fact when the Erie club was leading the league there was talk of breaking into the International circuit, and it is patent that the tumble will affect the patronage.

Wheeling, Akron and Zanesville are perfectly content and they should be as none of the three is entitled to better than Class C baseball on the showing made in the last few years. Canton is not inclined to desert with the change, but there has been little adverse criticism as the owners saw what was coming before they attended the meeting here, and had taken the precaution to prevent unfavorable comment.

As a sample of the feeling in Youngstown the following is clipped from a story written by Frank B. Ward, sporting editor of the Vindicator:

"Central league magnates had no license to shove Youngstown out of the Central league. This city with Erie and possibly Fort Wayne, were the only ones that completed the 1933 season without a howl about emasculation. Magnate Powers took his club through the season without a murmur, and like a good sportsman was willing to take another chance that the club might enjoy the brand of sport to which it is justly entitled.

"Whether Youngstown made or lost money on their first season in the Central league is a matter that concerns more other than those interested in the club. Magnate Powers did not howl about a loss, so the inference is that he is at least satisfied, if not jubilant, over the result of the season.

"The talk among fans Friday was anything but encouraging for quarters it was planned to start petitions denouncing the action of the Central league magnates, while others favored going in the night before the governing body of baseball.

"Youngstown has had enough of that brand of ball that might properly be characterized as weak kneed and juvenile-like. Fans do not care to patronize a league in which several of the clubs are forced to retire about July 4. Youngstown is fastidious and progressive in every other branch, and unless public sentiment is deceptive, her baseball supporters will not stand for stupidity in the city unparaded sport.

"Central league magnates had no just kick on Youngstown or Erie. Both cities held up their end of the agreement last year with credit to themselves and the game. If the action taken Thursday was put through with a view to saving pilage made necessary by the geographical location of these cities, it shows conclusively that the 'patron' was operated upon before the operators were familiar with the anatomy of their subject.

"If they were so anxious to dissect a portion of the league, why did they overlook Terre Haute and South Bend? As far as baseball is concerned these settlements are one of the 'flag station' variety in all that the term implies. Last season both of these towns proved to be lemons, and they will always prove so, unless the club owners equip a team that can really win a pennant."

ARE AFTER BOBBY QUINN.

Want Him for President of the New Interstate League.

Directors of the new Interstate league composed of clubs empaneled at the Central, will insist that Bobby Quinn accept the presidency in spite of the fact that he will be at the head of the Akron club.

CHANNEL HIT THE BALL.

Made Good Record in Western League With the Denver Club.

Averages issued by the Western league show that Lester Channel, former Fort Wayne player, got back on his stride and hit the ball for an average of .821. Kenworthy batted .385 and stole 35 bases, while Channel pilfered only ten. Grover Gilmore, who came near being a Fort Wayne player, batted .319 and stole 29 bases, and the lawyers been able, who couldn't hit his stride at Wheeling, landed an average of .298.

These Are Some of the Members of the Fort Wayne All-Stars—If the Others Had Reported They Would Have Gotten Their Pictures in The Sentinel, Too.

The Fort Wayne All-Stars played their first out of town game of the season against the Bluffton Pil Belts yesterday in the way of a first football team. Enlured home a 12 to 0 victory. This indicates that it is a pretty good sort of a club as the Bluffton crowd was touted as about the toughest thing hereabouts as the players generally turn out for practice and keep themselves in good condition, they are in position to get good games in towns near Fort Wayne, and engaged.

FARMER WOULD NOT GO ON.

Glen Coakley Cheated Out of a Chance to Show at Pittsburgh.

Glen Coakley had his gloves on in the dressing room at Pittsburgh Saturday night to go on with "Kid" Farmer in a preliminary to the bout in which Buck Cruise beat "Knockout" Brown, but Farmer squealed and the Fort Wayne lad was cheated out of a chance to show what he has.

LOST TO AUBURN PLAYERS.

The West Ends lost their game at Auburn to the Auburn high school by a score of 13 to 6. The clubs lined up as follows:

Auburn—Bishop, Thomas, Schlank, McIntyre, Depp, Crothers, Slegars, Bishop, Lum, Ferrell, Green, Brown and Belder.

West Ends—Rose, Brinker, Craig, Geller, Bradley, Meyer, Gilpin, Herring, Wit, Fleming, Evans, Centlivre, Siples and McKinnic.

SPEED THE BEST ASSEST FOR CLUB

McGraw Relies on It to Overcome Errors of His Ball Team.

HOW CAN HE BUILD?

New York, Nov. 4.—What do the Giants need to hold them at the head of the National league race during the campaign of 1937? What reinforcements must be enlisted by McGraw to block off ambitious aspirants, keep his team in first position till the finish, and fit them to reverse the hard luck series so lately won by Boston? Is the team as now made up sufficiently strong or must the manager rebuild it as he had to rebuild the champions of 1905?

It is now conceded by even the most jealous of McGraw's rivals that his leadership, his ideas, his methods, are equal to half a dozen strong players in actual value. He can take almost any sort of material, and turn it into a good, aggressive machine, and make it win. There are several managers in the two big leagues who with his material would have finished lower in the standings, and there are several teams that with him to lead would have been up where the Giants were. Such being the case, it is probably well for the game that McGraw can't get much strengthening for his band. Give him a top-notch club, with his style of governing, and what would be the use of a schedule?

The secret of McGraw's success for the past two years is speed—is forcing the men to go round the bases at a terrific rate. Other managers seem to figure slowly, to nurse their men along, to avoid daring, risky plays. McGraw figures that a ball game only lasts two hours and his animals have twenty-two hours for recuperation. He believes that in a fast game, which lasts but two hours per day, rush and hurry outclass deliberation and conservatism. A ball game lasted six hours, the Giants would sink below the surface and never come up again. In two hours they can usually get the hop, as it were, and go so far ahead that they can't be overtaken.

McGraw's men play nothing on earth but the old Baltimore game of 1884. They don't hit to hit where they can't and keep moving. That's it. Keep moving. If your runner is slow, or the hostile catcher is famous for his throwing lay down a bunt or try the hit and run to help the man along. If your runner is fast, get away to a good start, and is well down the line before the pitcher arrives, let him alone—let him steal. New York stole more bases than any other team this season. New York, though with a lower batting average than one or two other teams, scored more runs than any other. Those runs, therefore, were developed from those extra stolen bases. Baltimore ball, that's all, and keep a-moving.

The lack of McGraw's team needs no further teaching. It's been thoroughly taught and all McGraw has to do is to keep it going and see that it is not allowed to slacken. Where he must force it is in the defense. New York fielded wretchedly all season, the errors being overcome by the fierce attack and the stolen bases. In the short series with Boston, where every error counted, the misplays ruined everything and gave the final victory to a team which was outclassed in the attack, outclassed with the bat and shown up in base running. Fielding must be looked after as well as batting, and the fielding of McGraw's team is the one weak point in the series. But how can McGraw improve the fielding of men who have played long enough to strike a regular gait, above which they can hardly go?

CAN BUY HIS RELEASE.

Bill Hillinger has secured permission from the Zanesville club to negotiate with any other club that wants his services, and if he can complete a deal he will not be with the Potters next season. If the city goes back to Class C ball it is hardly probable that it could pay his salary demands.

NORMALS BEAT HANNA SCHOOLS.

The Normals of St. Peter's school defeated the Hanna school eleven by a score of 24 to 0 at the Bass football field on Lafayette street.

STRONGER CLUBS MUST BE PICKED

Friars Have Developed and Test Necessary to Prove How Much.

BEAT SOUTH BENDERS

That the Friar football eleven has developed into a powerful independent organization and that the work of the players is head and shoulders above any displayed in former years is admitted readily by the patrons of football here but just how much strength has been developed will not be proven until a club stronger than any seen here this season is obtained.

The Friars are not misstepping, any team in the state outside of the big colleges. They want the best, and when the schedule was made up only the teams that looked strongest were selected but none has been here so far that put to a test the full playing strength of the local talent.

In the game against the Stronghearts the visitors would never have crossed the Fort Wayne goal line but for the fact that Pask missed a pass and let the ball get into the hands of Illets, who had a clear field, and at that the local quarterback most get his before he made the only touchdown obtained by the Stronghearts.

The South Bend club came touted as the best in northern Indiana and southern Michigan. And from the fact that the players live in a college town and many of them have had the advantage of the coaching at Notre Dame university, it might naturally have been supposed that the Friars had a big job on their hands. In the second quarter the Fort Wayne team battered down the South Bend defense and ran up a big score. Ward's run of seventy-five yards and Laird's drop kick stood out prominently although the whole team played good football. The line-up:

Pos.	South Bend	Boys
Roth-Elmwood	J. D.	Boys
Braden	L. T.	Zulky
Dunlap	L. T.	C. Meyers
Bel-Scheumann	C.	R. Meyers
Miller	R. G.	Hamilton

Dennison (capt.)	R. T.	Craney
Pank	Q. B.	Shanfelt
Strieder-Gessler	L. H.	Jones
Weder-Pierre	R. H.	Johnson
Laird	F. B.	Illets

The score:
Friars 5 21 0 7-31
South Bend 0 0 0 0-6
Touchdowns—Ward 3, Strieder, Illets.
Drop kick—Laird.
Goals on touchdowns—Laird 3, Braden 1.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS NOW ENTIRELY SURROUNDED BY LAWYERS.

Huggins to Complete the Quartet of Legal Luminaries Bossing Club Owned by Woman Who Fires Bresnahan.

When Miller J. Huggins is appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, succeeding Roger Bresnahan, discharged, will have on her staff four honest-to-goodness lawyers. The men are:

Attorney A. C. Jones, president.
Attorney Miller J. Huggins, manager.
Attorney W. C. Schofield, secretary.
Attorney L. O. Hocker, attorney.

If added cooks are needed to spoil the broth, it is probable Attorney Hocker can call in some of his office force. Isn't it a fine bunch to ask the national commission to go up against in an argument?

No wonder Bresnahan was decapitated. The chances he'd have been released sooner had the lawyers been able to agree. And maybe it is because she has a staff of able-bodied lawyers that Mrs. Britton is willing to take a chance on a suit to force her to pay Bresnahan $10,000 a year and 10 per cent of the club's profits, as his contract calls for—for the next three years!

Attorney Miller Huggins, who will probably succeed Bresnahan as manager of the Cardinals, is a member of the bar in Ohio, although he never worked at it. He seldom writes LL. D. after his name, although among the professors who drilled Blackstone into him were President W. H. Taft and Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio. Still Huggins isn't proud, so's you'd notice.

TWO ARE HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Kramer and His Wife Tell Coroner's Jury of the Singer Murder.

CLOWN A GRIM JOKER

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Charles N. Kramer, alias Conway, the clown and circus acrobat, and his wife, Lillian Beatrice Kramer, were held to the grand jury without bail by a coroner's jury today for the murder of Sophia G. Singer, the Baltimore heiress.

Kramer and his wife testified voluntarily before the coroner's jury, telling the same stories as were accredited to them in the police confessions obtained several days ago.

He's the Merry Joker.

Charles Newton Kramer, circus clown, acrobat and high diver, who confessed to having killed Miss Sophia Gertrude Singer, of Baltimore, Md., was expected to repeat his tragic story of the murder today when the coroner's inquest over the body of the victim was resumed.

Mrs. Kramer, who gave the police the first definite information that her husband killed Miss Singer, also will testify with a number of other witnesses. In the meantime Kramer and his wife are being held without bail.

Kramer's demand remains the same as when he first was taken into custody. He insists that he killed the woman in self-defense and professes to believe that he will be freed when given a jury trial in the criminal court. He continued to jest about his predicament and seemed in a jolly mood.

"Under the law they can't hang a man with a wooden leg in this state," he remarked.

"How is that?" inquired a police officer.

"Because the law states a rope must be used," he replied with a laugh.

Police Captain Nootbaar had Kramer before him in his private office for more than an hour and the two went over the written confession dictated by the prisoner Saturday. Before he would affix his signature, Kramer insisted on making a number of unimportant changes. He made the corrections in his own handwriting and over each change he inserted his initials in order, as he expressed it, that the police court could not "put anything over on him."

The police profess to place little credence in Kramer's declaration that he killed Miss Singer in self-defense and will endeavor to show that the motive for the killing was robbery.

CHANGE MEETING DATE.

Northsiders to Postpone Business One Week.

The North Side Civic Improvement association will not meet the first Wednesday of this month, as has been customary. The regular meeting has been postponed one week on account of the excitement which is anticipated to prevail following the election tomorrow.

TO SPEAK AT BELLEVUE.

City Attorney H. G. Hogan and Joseph Hutsell, of the board of public safety, will deliver addresses at Bellevue, O., tomorrow night. The city is to hold an election on a bond issue to establish an electric lighting plant and they will tell of the operations of the local plant.

ATTENTION, VOTERS

Vote for the Republican Legislative Candidates. They are right on the road question. They are opposed to a vehicle tax; opposed to the creation of a board of high-salaried road officials; opposed to bonding the state to build speedways.

BOARD MADE THE CHANGES SOUGHT

Transfers Made by Which Pilsner Inn is to Be Reopened.

JACKSON TO RESUME

A number of transfers were asked in the liquor hearings before the board of county commissioners at the session today and among them is one from Joseph Notestine to Ed Kleindinst under which the Pilsner Inn saloon, recently closed by the revocation of a license held by Andrew Schmuck, will be reopened.

Kleindinst bought the Joe Notestine license on Harrison street, and had good witnesses to swear that he is a fit man to be in the business.

He had had some trouble with the board on a former occasion when he withdrew an application and he said to the board today that he expects to conduct a model saloon.

A. B. Jackson returned to the saloon business after an absence of several years. He purchased the Tillman & Son place at Harrison and Main streets, and the license was transferred. Other transfers recorded were from Harry H. Kelly, 1414 South Calhoun street, to Baron P. Busch; Julian S. Fabian, 1153 Lafayette street, to Louis H. Boddy; Fred Kimmel, 119 East Main, to Adolph Lisner; A. N. Bonahoom, 1801 John street, to Peter Jarres, and Ed Pettit, 133 West Columbia, to J. G. Greenstone. There were no remonstrances of any kind filed on the renewals and transfers before the board for November.

Divided His Property.

Under the will of the late George Gump filed for probate this afternoon, his estate is to be divided between his children and grandchildren after deducting advances made to them.

GODFREY IS IMPROVING.

Antwerp Man Shot by Town Marshal May Recover.

Wright Godfrey, who was shot in the shoulder last Friday by Town Marshal William Brown, at Antwerp, Ohio, seems to be improving at the Lutheran hospital in this city. His condition is still serious, however, but the change for the better came today. The bullet penetrated Godfrey's right chest and may have touched the lung. The patient spent a fairly good night last night and the physicians look for his recovery.

CLOSE FOR ELECTION DAY.

City Hall and Most of the Offices in Court House Will Close Tomorrow on account of the election, and most of the offices in the court house will not be open for business. The clerk's office will be on hand on account of election troubles that may come up but there will be little general business transacted.

HAS MADE 500 SPEECHES.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4.—Before concluding his campaign at a rally in Springfield, Mass., tonight, Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, progressive candidate for Vice President, came to Providence to deliver a "noon address."

The California executive has made 500 speeches during a nine-week campaign.

TWO DIPHTHERIA CASES.

Richard Pichon, of 1036 West Main street, and Violet Lambert, of 302 East Woodland avenue, are ill with diphtheria, and their cases were reported to the health department today. A case of scarlet fever also was reported at the Lonsworth home, 120 East Pontiac street.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

John Bowersox was arrested this afternoon on an affidavit from Justice Grabner's court charging him with beating his wife. He is employed by the Wabash company, and lives at 418 Bass street.

Vacant Rooms? Don't Worry

If you have not found a tenant for your room, there's no use despairing and "publishing" the fact all over in scare headlines.

"There are just as good tenants in the city as ever been gotten."

The best way to reach them is to place your "For Rent" ad. in the paper that the tenants read. In Fort Wayne nearly everyone takes The Sentinel and reads Sentinel want ads.

TRACING RYAN'S TRIPS.

McNamara Letter Figures in Dynamite Conspiracy Case.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—Frank M. Ryan's trips about the country which the government charges were made partly in connection with explosions while he was president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, were traced in letters produced at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial here today.

One letter written by John J. McNamara, the alleged dynamiter, to Ryan, referred to an advertisement offered for publication in the Iron Workers' union magazine. This advertisement announced a reward for information about the finding of dynamite on a job in Cleveland, Ohio, in February, 1908. McNamara wrote to Ryan that "To refuse the advertisement would make it appear as if the union was trying to shield somebody." Ryan, replying from Baltimore, advised McNamara to publish the offer of a reward.

A contracting firm in Milwaukee, Wis., offered the reward, after the union had called a strike against it. Work of the firm in various cities later was blown up.

WILL USE SAME INSTRUMENT.

Wilson Gets Sounder That Ticked Off Victory to Cleveland in 1922.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Gov. Wilson will receive the election returns here tomorrow night through the same telegraph instrument that ticked off victory to Grover Cleveland in 1922.

Commodore E. C. Benedict, a lifelong friend of Grover Cleveland, sent a messenger to Gov. Wilson today with the historic sounder and the nominee immediately had it substituted for the one the telegraph company had installed. The governor expressed again his desire to go to bed early and hear the returns the next day. He will have with him at his home only the members of his family and his younger brother, Joseph R. Wilson. Dr. J. M. Norchorn arrived and substituted a pink plaster for the white one that the nominee was wearing to cover the scalp wound received in the automobile mishap of yesterday.

READY TO START FOR 1916.

Prohibitionists Will Have Largest Vote in History, Says Committee.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Confidence that the prohibition party would poll the largest vote in its history was expressed in the official statement issued today by the national committee. The campaign was waged on a $50,000 fund, says the statement, which announces a party call for a meeting to be held soon after election to start the campaign for 1916.

TURKEY IN A CRY FOR HELP

What Other Powers Say.

Those powers thus far consulted have responded to Turkey's appeal for mediation by declaring that they could make only proposals for peace and could not approach the Balkan states with a request for an armistice.

Some of the governments have pointed out that Turkey's proposal for a cessation of hostilities—in other words, an armistice—would offend the Balkan victors.

Other governments take the position that it would be an infringement of international law for the moment.

The war must, therefore, continue, and the Turkish armies, which the ports have at last admitted been beaten, must keep on with their unequal struggle against the victorious invaders. It is hoped and believed still that the powers soon will find a formula under which they can offer their good offices.

The terms of peace themselves are a matter entirely for the belligerents to settle. Bulgaria having again affirmed that no interference from the outside would be tolerated. In this she has the support of her allies, who settled the political as well as the military aspect of the campaign before the war was undertaken.

FRANCE HAS REFUSED.

Paris, Nov. 4.—The French government has refused the Turkish government's appeal for it to take the initiative in bringing about an intervention of the powers to stop hostilities and impose an armistice on the Balkan states.

The reply of the French foreign office points out that for France to take the course suggested would be contrary to international law and would make her appear as siding against the Balkan states. France can only, it was added, consider in accord with all the great powers a request for mediation properly so-called, if such a request be addressed to her.

NOT FOR GERMANY.

Berlin, Nov. 4.—Germany and Austria will not join in intervention in the Balkan war without a request to take such a step coming directly from one of the belligerents. The German foreign office has not received any confirmation of the report telegraphed from Constantinople that Turkey has asked the powers to mediate.

FLIGHT IS PITIABLE.

Belgrade, Serbia, Nov. 4.—A batch of prisoners, numbering 1,300, chiefly Aroman tribesmen and other irregulars, captured by the Serbian troops in Macedonia, arrived here today under escort. They presented a pitiable sight. All of them were barefooted and in rags and they were almost starving.

Mrs. Bertha Berger, Churubusco, underwent an operation at Hope hospital today.

STOOD CAR ON END.

Collision in Front of Lake Shore Depot Occurs Today.

As a switch engine brought the cars of the southbound Lake Erie and Western 11 o'clock passenger train down from the yards this morning, a northbound string of cars pushed by another switch engine collided with the passenger train and one of the freight cars was knocked off its trucks and left standing on its end in front of the baggage room. Another car was derailed also and the wreckage blocked the tracks so that the freight siding had to be cleared of cars to allow the passenger trains to get in and out. No body was injured.

PUTS CURB ON INJUNCTIONS.

New Rules Promulgated in Federal Court Procedure.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Revolutionary changes in procedure in equity cases in federal courts throughout the United States are effected in revised rules promulgated today by the supreme court of the United States. The object is to reduce the cost of litigation and eliminate delays.

Among new rules of procedure announced by the supreme court today is one not referred to by Chief Justice White in his explanation from the bench which will prohibit issue of preliminary injunctions without notice to the opposite party and also restricting issues of temporary restraining orders.

LODGE ENTERTAINMENT.

Knights and Ladies' of Honor to Receive Election Returns.

Knights and Ladies' of Honor, No. 2028, has made arrangements to receive complete returns from the election at the hall above Fick's millinery store, on West Berry street. An entertainment program will be carried out and refreshments will be served.

FOLK DANCING EXOTIC STUDY.

Superintendent of Berks Schools Prohibits Innovation.

Reading, Pa., Nov. 2.—Folk dancing, the latest departure in the modern school curriculum, was the one progressive movement with which County Superintendent E. M. Rapp pronounced himself as not in favor of at the fourteenth annual round table conference of teachers of the first three grades this morning.

"It may be all right for New York and Philadelphia," he said, "but I consider it exotic in our rural schools."

WALKS FROM COAST TO COAST.

California Reporter Resumes Hike With "Regrets" From Gaynor.

New York, Nov. 2.—Harvey Thoren, a young reporter of the Ukiah (Cal.) Daily Republican, was received by Mayor Gaynor today at the end of a walk across the continent in seven months and twenty-six days. He bore a letter from Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, and Mayor Gaynor gave him one to take back, in which he said:

"Thoren intends to walk back. If I had time I would go with him. It would do me good. They knock me around pretty hard now and then, and some days I feel as though a good long walk would suit me—the farther away the better. But the next day I feel all right and content again."

CITY BREVITIES.

Chester Durnell, a Pennsylvania passenger engineer, was operated upon today for gall stones at Hope hospital. The operation was successful and Mr. Durnell is doing nicely.

William Engle, of 425 West Wayne street, was admitted to Hope hospital today for treatment.

Mrs. E. W. Hearne left the Lutheran hospital today after being a patient there for the last three weeks, following an operation.

LAST APACHES ARE FREED.

Lavton, Okla., Nov. 4.—Only 245 Apache prisoners of war now maintained on the Fort Sill military reservation will remain in Oklahoma if reports of the special committee appointed to settle Apache affairs are approved by the war and interior departments. The remaining 245 will be transferred to Mesquite reservation in New Mexico, to be placed under the supervision of a superintendent representing the interior department.

None will be treated as prisoner of war. The commission placed the qualification of sobriety and physical and intellectual ability to make their own living upon those who would stay in Oklahoma.

REV. C. A. YOUNG NO MORE.

Man Distinguished as Soldier, Teacher and Post Office at Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—Distinguished as a soldier, teacher and post, the Rev. Charles Addison Young died at the state soldiers' home last night. Mr. Young came to the home from Crawfordsville ten years ago, and has been a sufferer from locomotor ataxia. He was born in Boone county in 1848, and educated at Wabash college. His body will be taken to Shannondale, Montgomery county, for burial.

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT COLLIDE

Fireman Merden Killed and Engineer Hinkle Badly Hurt.

ACCIDENT HAPPENED NEAR WOLCOTTVILLE

Both Engines and Baggage
Car Roll Down Eighteen Foot Embankment.

As a result of a head-on collision between a passenger train and a freight train on the Detroit-Chicago branch of the Wabash system at a point midway between Topeka and Eddy, Ind., at 4 o'clock this morning, Fireman C. Merden was instantly killed, Engineer Henry Hinkle was so badly injured that his recovery is a matter of doubt and two or three of the passengers were slightly bruised.

The trains were the westbound passenger, No. 5, and an eastbound freight, No. 24, and each was running at full speed when the engineer discovered a collision was inevitable and applied the brakes. The engines came together on a curve and each toppled over and rolled down an eighteen foot embankment, carrying the baggage car and two or three freight cars with them. Both the engineer and the fireman of the passenger train went with the engine and were caught in the wreckage at the foot of the embankment. Engineer Hinkle was placed upon a special train and hurried to the Peru hospital, passing through Fort Wayne at 10:30 o'clock.

The road was completely blocked and passenger trains were detained around the scene of the wreck, using the G. R. & I. for that purpose, and freight traffic was abandoned at that point until the tracks were repaired and opened.

The engineer and the fireman who figured in the wreck reside in Montpelier and little could be learned about them here. It is said, however, they were married.

READY FOR ENTERTAINMENT.

Printers Name Committees for Playgrounds Benefit.

Typographical Union No. 78, which is to give a benefit entertainment December 2 and 3 for the Playgrounds association, named the men who will serve on the several committees at the regular monthly meeting yesterday. The committees are as follows:

Program Committee—Henry C. Pressler (chairman); A. L. Grabenstetter, Oscar Leith, Elmer Harkender and Edward Miller.

Finance Committee—Herman Myers (chairman); H. C. Pressler, Henry Koenig, Charles Hakecker and Eric Peterson.

Press Committee—R. A. Crosby (chairman); Elmer Harkender, John Corcoran, Andrew Smith and Max Stern.

Talent Committee—Persa R. Bell (chairman); Wm. Draker, Claude Freimuth, E. M. Ludwig and John Uebelhor.

The entertainment will include moving pictures, showing the National Home for Union Printers at Colorado Springs, Col., and vaudeville acts staged by members of the union. These committees will hold a joint meeting with the executive committee of the Playgrounds association at the Commercial club Thursday evening of this week.

NO CHICAGO EXCURSION.

Stock Show Rates Are All That Will Be Offered.

Bulletins announcing that the stock show rates to Chicago will be two cents per mile, or 86 for the round trip to Chicago from this city, is taken as evidence that neither the Nickel Plate nor the Pennsylvania has intentions of running a $2 Chicago excursion this year. It seems to have been the agreement between the lines mentioned that there shall be no cheaper rates than two cents per mile to Chicago this year. The numerous inquiries at the local passenger stations indicate a great desire on the part of the public for a $2 Chicago excursion, but it is not to be and people interested will save themselves and the ticket agents much trouble by ceasing to make inquiries about the matter.

HAS NEW TITLE.

Frank P. Parnin Is Now District Passenger Agent.

Saturday Frank P. Parnin, of the Nickel Plate, received notice that he is gaining at once his title will be district passenger agent instead of traveling passenger agent. He will have the same territory as formerly, and so far as known, his duties will remain the same. Mr. Parnin has fitted up a convenient little office in the superintendent's building and he now handles his communications and office work at a brand new desk and with a new type-writing machine. He formerly had a desk in the ticket office in the depot building.

GOES TO PANAMA.

E. T. Miller Accepts Employment With Uncle Sam.

E. T. Miller, who resigned as general foreman of the Pennsylvania power plant a week ago, has accepted a position as erecting engineer in Panama for the United States government. He is probably now on his way to the isthmus to take up his new duties. Mr. Miller was in Panama before, having at one time been employed as an electrician by the government. For awhile Mrs. Miller, who is now at Pittsburgh, will make her home with her parents in San Francisco. With her mother, who has been visiting her for some time, she will leave in a day or two for that state.

NEW ROUTE TO COAL DOCKS.

Wabash Engines Have to Pass Through Round House.

The only track to the Wabash coal docks since the tracks were elevated was torn up this morning to give room for the retaining wall that is to be erected there. This necessitated a new route to the docks and this morning a passage way was opened, via the turntable and the round house, back of which connection was made with the coal dock track, which at that point have not yet been disturbed.

PILING AT HARRISON STREET.

The Wabash maintenance of way department expects to commence setting the piling for the subway at Harrison street the latter part of this week. The pile driver is now piling for an additional track at Fairfield avenue and as soon as this work is accomplished it will be moved to Harrison street. The work of building a retaining wall from a point 100 feet west of Fairfield avenue to the junction of the shop yard tracks and the main line, east of the shops, will also commence this week. The wall will be set out far enough to give room for another track on the elevation and it will be about 750 feet long.

BRIDGE MATERIAL ARRIVING.

One of the steel beams, a piece 108 feet long and over eight feet high, which will go into the construction of the Wabash railway bridge across the St. Mary's river, arrived yesterday and the second piece will arrive later in the week. This steel will support the second track, which is north of the other main track, across the bridge and the work of installing it will be done by the maintenance of way department of the Wabash, under the direct supervision of Chief Engineer A. P. Cunningham and his assistant, J. W. Foster.

BIG ENGINE IN USE AGAIN.

Engine No. 125, on which Engineer Clarence E. Shier, of the Nickel Plate, lost his life in a rear end collision near Leipsic several weeks ago, is out of the Stony Island shops and is being tried out in thorough freight before it takes its place in the passenger service again. It brought down train 38 from Chicago yesterday and took train 39 back there, with Engineer F. J. Adams in the cab and will go into the passenger service Wednesday. This is one of the three passenger engines on the Western division of the Nickel Plate that are equipped with superheaters.

HAVE RESUMED WORK.

A. Hettler, C. Renken and Nicholas Miller resumed work in the Pennsylvania car machine shop this morning, after an absence on account of sickness. A. H. Masbaum and Chris Starke, cabinet-makers, and J. Prange, of the planing mills, also reported for work this morning after sickness.

TWO FINGERS CRUSHED.

J. O. Langston, who operates a boring machine in the Pennsylvania car machine shop, had two fingers very badly crushed Saturday afternoon and it is feared one of them may have to be amputated. Mr. Langston is at the hospital.

WYMAN SUCCEEDS COURTRIGHT.

Trainmaster O. G. Wyman has been transferred from the Cincinnati Northern branch of the Big Four to the Michigan branch, with headquarters at Wabash, to succeed J. A. Cortright, who resigned last week.

BULGARIANS GOING HOME.

A special train carrying between 400 and 500 Bulgarians, going home to take part in the war against Turkey, passed through the city, over the Pennsylvania, at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning.

GUARDS MERMAID ABOUT THE GLOBE

Is Lifeless Now But Owner
Alleges She Was Alive.

HAS A HUMAN FACE

New York, Nov. 4.—Among the 2,300 and odd persons on the White Star line steamship Olympic when she arrived from Southampton, there was no more interesting being than William Legg, engineer's storekeeper on the mammoth vessel, who has followed the sea for over thirty years. The fact that Mr. Legg had with him on the Olympic safely guarded under a glass case, a real bonafide mermaid, was only the least of the interesting things about the man.

While he was lighthouse keeper on the Steep Island lighthouse, off the Chinese coast, about 150 miles from Shanghai, Mr. Legg picked up on the afternoon of September 2, 1902, a living mermaid. The mermaid had been flung on the rocks and was still alive when picked up by Mr. Legg. The body below the waist was that of a fish with a fin on the back and one on the stomach and a double finned tail. The body was of a dark greenish blue without scales while the head and shoulders were of the regulation human flesh. The mermaid was about 24 inches long and emitted a whining sound before it died, death being caused by a laceration in the throat where it had been flung on a sharp rock projection.

Chinese by Persuasion.
"As you see by the stuffed body," said Mr. Legg, "the mermaid had a perfect face, slightly Chinese in cast. Her hair was brown as some of the hair still shows, although most of it had been turned white by the action of the acids used in preserving the body. The Chinese fishermen told me that they had very often seen these mermaids, which they called 'vitchies,' and have heard them making their peculiar whining noise on the shores at night. These mermaid do not live in the water, but between the crevices of the rocks on the Chinese coast, going into deep water only for an occasional swim."

The body of the mermaid as it reclined under the glass case in Mr. Legg's room on the White Star liner Olympic, showed a perfect human head, with hair, probably four inches long, part of it white and part brown. It had regular teeth and nose, but the size of the head was not larger than that of a new-born baby. There were no evidences of scales on the body. A remarkable thing about the mermaid was the perfect shape of the hands and arms, and the muscles of the arms where they had been preserved by the preserving fluid were plainly visible.

All Over Religion.
Those who may doubt the truth of Mr. Legg's statement will doubtless change their mind when they know that he is an intensely religious man, God-fearing and devoting his life to the betterment of the sailor. Stripped to the waist, Mr. Legg presents a wonderful appearance. Tattooed on his chest are scriptural texts and across his stomach is tattooed a picture of the Lord's Supper in colors. Mr. Legg is unable to say from what painting the picture tattooed on himself was taken, but it is a wonderful work of art. When he turns around there is found tattooed on his back, between his shoulder blades, the Lord's prayer, and underneath that the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

"It was from my back, as I worked in the bowels of this ship, that the engineers, who sang 'Nearer My God to Thee' upon the sinking of the Titanic, learned that hymn. The unfortunate fellows worked with me on the Olympic and other White Star steamers, and they could plainly read, as they worked, the inscription on my back."

Mr. Legg has lectured on the subject of his mermaid in England, giving all of the proceeds of his lectures to the seamen's missions in England. He thinks of quitting the sea and exhibiting himself and the mermaid for the benefit of the various religious bodies connected with the seafarers' lives in Great Britain.

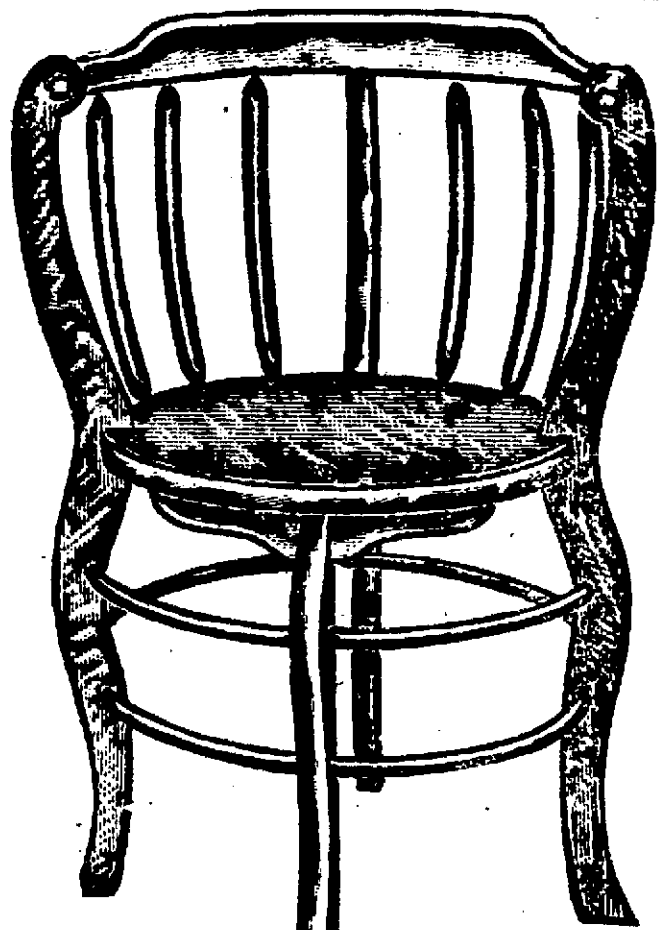

"Until I found this mermaid I had heard the peculiar moans and whinnings on the rock shores of the Chinese sea often, but had never believed it possible that these sounds came from the real mermaids. The place where I picked up this little being lies between the Bonham and the Ting Tong lighthouse. I have never found another after this one, although I have heard of many cases where the natives have come across the mermaids."

RARE TALENT.

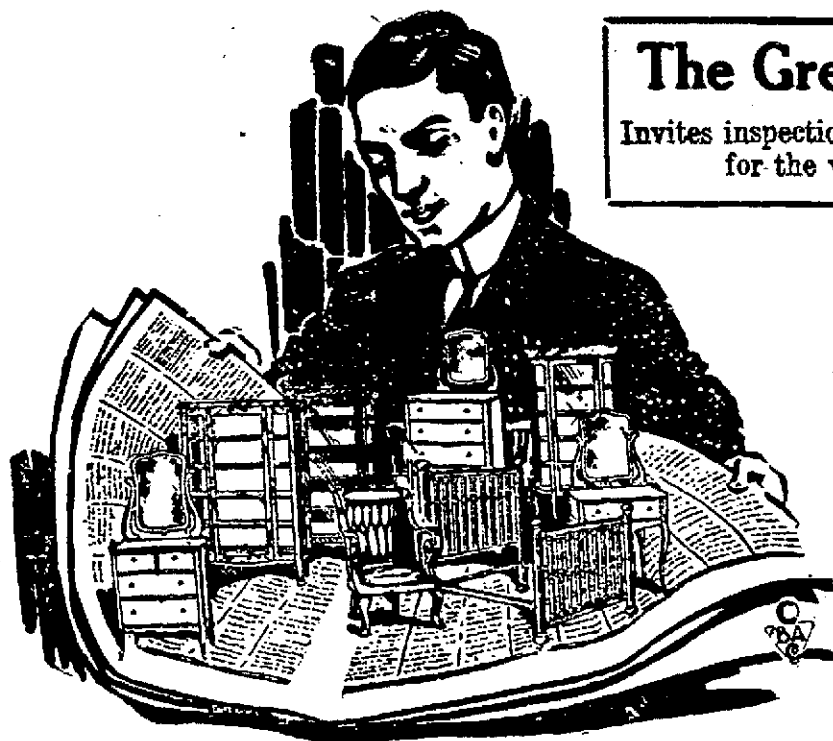

"Did you see where another chorus girl was called on to take the leading lady's part and made good?"
"I did. But what I'm waiting to see some day is a leading lady who can go into the chorus and make good."

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

for any heater to equal them and no stove manufacturer or dealer has yet been able to produce a base burner that heats the same amount of space with the same amount of fuel.

THE SEARCHLIGHT is the only base burner on earth that will burn the gases as well as the coal itself.

It Saves $3.50 on Each Ton of Coal

By utilizing as fuel the gases that all other base burners allow to escape up the chimney, and it heats three times the space of any other base burner on earth, owing to the exposed fire pot that radiates the heat directly into the room—the floor. The heat is not bottled up and sent up the chimney like the ordinary so-called base burner.

THAT BAD GHOST MERELY A CHILD

Whole Town in Fear After Girl Plays Nightly
Pranks.

DID NOT LIKE THE JOB

New York, Nov. 4.—"Yes," admitted 14-year-old Beatrice Steigher of Calverton, eight miles from Riverhead, L. I., to Sheriff Brush, "I was the ghost that kept Mrs. Frances Rayner awake and frightened all her neighbors. What's the use of denying it? I did it so Mrs. Rayner would go and live with her son and I could go home and sleep at night. I was that ghost."

Beatrice's confession caused sighs of relief to come from most of the homes in Calverton, where the stories of Mrs. Rayner's ghost had caused many sleepless nights and afforded conversation for many days.

Mrs. Rayner, who is 83 and a widow, lives in an isolated spot in Calverton. Her son George dwells in another part of the hamlet. He has been trying vainly to persuade his mother to desert the home where she has lived more than fifty years and come to his house.

To insure his mother's safety Rayner engaged Beatrice to stay with her at night. The girl did not like to pass her nights in so lonely a spot, but her parents insisted on her taking the job.

A few nights after Beatrice had taken the place Mrs. Rayner was aroused by queer noises. Bricks were thrown against the house, windows were broken and unearthly groans sounded. One night the aged widow became so frightened that she hid in a closet for hours.

Neighbors heard of the ghostly pranks and Beatrice's father became so alarmed that he barricaded his home nightly.

As for Beatrice, she told every one how terribly afraid of ghosts she was. And she invariably added that she wanted to go home and not live in a haunted house.

Sheriff Brush was asked to solve the mystery. He assigned Deputies George H. Conklin and A. J. Howell to watch the widow Rayner's house.

For several nights last week they wear on duty, but the spook did not appear, nor were any queer noises heard. But every night before they arrived or after they had left disturbances took place.

On Wednesday night the deputies did not announce their arrival at Mrs. Rayner's. Instead they concealed themselves near the house. By and by a figure in white crept from a door. The figure was seen to raise its hand and fling a rock through a window. Then it groaned in ghostly fashion; then it started to enter the house through the open door.

But the detectives grabbed the ghost. It was Beatrice in her nightgown.

"Was it right for me to be kept here when I knew Mrs. Rayner's son wanted her to go and live with him?" she demanded. "No, it wasn't. Now I expect Mrs. Rayner will go to her son and I can stay home. There won't be any more ghosts about here if I'm allowed to go home."

They will not prosecute Beatrice for causing the disturbance and breaking Mrs. Rayner's windows. The chances are she will be permitted to sleep at home. But Mrs. Rayner said:

"I'm going to spend the remainder of my days here where I've lived so long, even though I've got to be alone."

SHOT HIMSELF IN NECK.

Onwood, Ind., Nov. 4.—George Foster, 25, Onwood, while cleaning a revolver, accidentally shot himself in the neck. He will die.

RETRENCHMENT.

"Well, Jones, I've found a way to cut the annual running expenses of my automobile in half."
"How do you manage it?"
"Why, for six months of the year I don't run it."

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

BALKAN WAR GUIDE

Places Which May Become Famous Before the War is Over—Cut This Out for Reference When Reading Dispatches from the Front.

ADRIANOPLE—The principal fortress in European Turkey. Near the Bulgarian frontier, on the railway, between Belgrade and Constantinople. Population about 80,000, consisting of Turks (less than half), Bulgarians, Jews, Armenians and Greeks.

ALBANIA—A region in the west of European Turkey, with a population of over 1,000,000.

BELGRADE—The capital of Serbia, on the right bank of the Danube, near Semlin, Austria-Hungary. Population about 30,000. Extensive fortifications.

BERANA—Close to the Montenegrin border; the scene of several sanguinary conflicts.

BUCHARIST—Capital of Roumania, styled by the Roumanians the "Paris of the East." Strongly fortified. Population, 300,000.

BURGAS—A seaport of southern Bulgaria, 75 miles northeast of Adrianople. Population, 12,000.

CETINJE—Capital of Montenegro, in a narrow valley at an elevation of about 2,000 feet. Population, 5,000.

DURAZZO—A fortified town on the coast of Albania.

ELASSONA—A town in European Turkey, close to the Greek frontier.

IPEK—A town in the Kosovo vilayet of Turkey in Europe, near the frontier of Montenegro.

MACEDONIA—A part of modern Turkey; contains a medley of peoples, the chief element being Slavs, Osmanlis and Greeks. The quadruple alliance is demanding autonomy for it.

MITROVITZA—A Turkish town in the vilayet of Kosovo, the terminus of the railway from Salonika in the direction of Novi-Bazar.

NISLI, or NISSA—A fortified Serbian town 130 miles southeast of Belgrade. Population, 21,524. About three miles from Turkish frontier.

NOVI-BAZAR—The Sanjak of Novi-Bazar is between Serbia (on the east) and Montenegro (on the west). It adjoins Bosnia. It was occupied by Austria and evacuated in 1908, when the sovereignty of Austria was extended over Bosnia and Herzegovina.

PHILIPPOLIS—Bulgarian city, the seat of a Greek archbishopric; population 46,480. Turks defeated here by the Russians in 1878.

PODGORITZA (mountain fort)—The largest town in Montenegro (38 miles north of Scutari, and three miles from the Turkish frontier), headquarters of the Montenegrin army; strongly fortified.

PRENEZA, GULF OF—At the southern extremity of Albania.

PRISREND—Capital of the vilayet of Kosovo. Seat of a Catholic archbishopric and a Greek metropolitan.

SALONIKA—At the head of the Gulf of Salonika, in Macedonia. It has a deep and safe roadstead.

SCUTARI—Albanian town near Montenegrin frontier. Population, 20,000. Not the Scutari of the Bosphorus, associated with the name of Florence Nightingale.

SOFFA—Capital of Bulgaria, on an elevated plain. Population, 67,920.

TUZI—Turkish village on Montenegrin frontier, near Podgoritza.

USKUB—A hundred miles to the north of Salonika. Population, 20,000; near the Balkan range.

VARNA—Bulgarian town on western shore of Black Sea; an important fortified town under the Turks. Population, 35,000.

VOLO—Principal seaport of Thessaly; seat of a Greek metropolitan.

YANINA—In southern Albania, near Greek frontier. Population, 25,000. A busy industrial town.

Constantinople, Turkish Capital, Near Which Balkan Allies Are Now Hurling Their Victorious Legions Against Ottomans

HERE'S A GREAT PANORAMIC PICTURE OF THE TURKISH CAPITAL—THE STRONGHOLD OF ISLAM AND THE KEY TO THE ORIENT.

(By an American Diplomat.)
"On to Constantinople!" is the cry of the Balkan allies, who have entered on war to the death against Turkey, their ancient foe. And well might this great city be the bone of contention of nations. For the slight of the "unbeatable Turk" has checked, for more than four centuries, the progress of what should be the first and fairest city of Europe—or of the world.
Constantinople, of glorious history, situated in the finest climate in the world, in the best strategic position of a city of Europe or Asia, which might dominate the commerce and the naval armaments of two continents, languishes in the hands of barbarians.
The day the Turk leaves Constantinople, there will be more opportunities for big enterprises than in any city in the world.
The western promoter who comes here with his mouth water at everything he sees. In no place on earth are there so many neglected opportunities, yet there is no use trying to accomplish anything under the barbarous Turkish rule.

There is one railroad running out of Constantinople which might be valuable property, but as the people who built it were paid a subsidy of so much a mile they made the road twist about like a cat chasing its tail, until it is about three-times as long as necessary, and just as much more expensive for freight and passengers.
Constantinople, with its suburbs, which are really an integral part of it, is about two-thirds as large as Chicago. But it resembles Chicago in almost nothing except its opportunities. Both cities are at the center of great land surfaces and contiguous to inland seas.
There are some people who predict that 100 years after the Turk has retired from Europe, Constantinople will be the first and Chicago the second city in the world.
The possibilities of Constantinople are chiefly found in a list of things she has not got. To begin with, electricity was an almost unknown force in Turkey when I was there a few years ago. There were a few telegraph lines, but the censorship was so severe that nobody used them unless they could not help it. There was no telephone whatever, and only two buildings in the whole of Turkey had electric light.

There were no electric cars, and for the matter of that not a decent road for any vehicle. The streets are so rough that the usual way of conveying goods is by pack trains of horses and mules.
Once a year the sultan goes to a particular mosque, and a street leading from the Yildiz Kiosk to the mosque is then paved and put in fine condition.
The city is divided in almost two equal parts by the Golden Horn, a narrow inlet from the Bosphorus. Over this are two narrow bridges built fifty years ago which have now become so rickety that they threaten to collapse at any moment. The roadway is of rough planks which are usually not even nailed down.

The sultan collects toll for every person and every vehicle which crosses the bridge, and in this way takes in about $1,500 a day for each bridge, but still there is never money enough to even nail down a plank.
In the foreign quarters there are a few fairly good stores, but the great bulk of trading is conducted from tiny little shops which are not much more than holes in the street walls.
Yet the people are not especially poor, and the trade of the city reaches a very large total.
The Turk presents a curious spectacle of arrested racial development. Except for a few trimmings supplied him against his will by foreigners, he is just where he was in the year 1600. He absolutely lacks modern capacity for business, whether in his own affairs or in the management of his country. Economically he is a child half way back to the stone age. Were he not a first class fighting man he would have been crowded out of Europe a century ago. No better monument could be found to his general inefficiency than this city of Constantinople.

Almost every article of daily use comes from English and German manufacturers. The bazars of Stamboul, Turkish name for the city of Constantinople, are full of foreign pots, kettles, cloth and furniture. Rugs are about the only article still made in the Ottoman empire.
The only fine buildings in the city, except a few built by foreigners, are mosques and palaces. That anything should be well built for merely commercial reasons is beyond Turkish comprehension. It is equally remote from his ideas that his government should be run on business lines. He gets revenue by extortion, office by bribery and removes his opponents by imprisonment or assassination.
The first thing which strikes a stranger as a little uncanny is the extreme number of human bodies which are found in the Bosphorus. They bob up repeatedly and disappear again, and nobody pays much attention to them. A city of more than a million people has its share of murders and suicides, but these would hardly account for the entire number.

Officials who are suspected of treason or something of that sort have a way of mysteriously disappearing via the old and simple process of trying a man up in a sack and throwing him in the Bosphorus.

DIABETES MELLITUS

Patient—Joseph Allen, Manufacturer, Collingswood, New Jersey.
 Case—Diabetes Mellitus.
 Diagnosis—By four physicians. Said the patient could not recover.
 Condition—Extreme weight reduced from 230 to 150 lbs. Could hardly think, sleep or talk. Could not attend to business. The physicians were giving opium to keep patient comfortable until the end came.
 The recovery of a wealthy lady in Philadelphia who was also in the last stages of the disease caused the treatment to be changed.
 A fine recovery resulted. This was all five years ago. As showing the permanency of the results obtained Allen is still well and attending to his manufacturing business at this writing (1919).
 The agent employed in both cases was Fulton's Diabetic Compound.
 Diabetes is now a curable disease in people of middle age and over who have recuperative power.
 The compound can be had in your city at D. & N. Pharmacy.

COMBINATION

The word "combination" is not here used in its ordinary, modern, business sense.
 It has reference to the happy combination that has made this bank the great success that everyone knows it to have been.
 It refers to the fact that the officers are practical and successful bankers, while the directors are practical and successful business men.
 That makes a combination mighty hard to beat, especially when the officers and directors all pull together.
 This bank also combines the safety of a national bank with the convenience of a savings bank. It maintains a saving department where interest is paid at the rate of 4 per cent.

THREE FORCES TO ASSIST OUR POOR

Religion, Education and Politics Much Join in Campaign.

SAYS PROF. DEVINE

New York, Nov. 4.—Prof. Edward T. Devine, of Columbia university, lecturing at the institution, said that the average American citizen does not take the interest he should in the question of the elimination of poverty, because our poor classes are different in race and color from the most of us. "In the north," he explained, "the poor classes are composed of the recent immigrants, who have not yet been able to make a living or who have failed to succeed in the new country, and in the south they are our negro brethren.

"Obviously, we shall not put an end to poverty by legislation," he said. Much legislation is necessary, but no change in taxation or in the degree or method of state control can ever go wholly to the root of the trouble.

"What I propose is, first, that in this campaign against poverty we should take complete possession of the educational institutions. The universities and colleges are already, to some extent, in our camp. There is little difference of opinion upon this subject among economists, sociologists and philosophers.

"I maintain, second, that this cause must recapture the churches. If there is any one touchstone of true religion, any one winning fan by which religious men are to be separated from irreligious and skeptical men, it is that which the Hebrew prophets and the christian fathers so constantly insisted upon—mainly, our attitude, both of sympathy and of action, toward human distress and oppression.

"The great general of the Salvation Army, who laid down the sword a short time ago, may have been an autocrat and a crude theologian. He may have exploited a philanthropy which is obsolete, but he knew poverty, and he taught us more about its nature than any other man of his time.

"As a third feature, we much to some extent go into politics. Thirty years ago the old Emperor William, Disraeli and the university men who were their advisors, entered upon that scheme of social legislation which, along with her fiscal policy, her technical and commercial education and her business enterprise, brought Germany from a backward place to the foremost industrial position in Europe."

Ft. Wayne Druggist Deserves Praise

"BREAK INTO YOUR HOUSE AND LIVE"

LIFE LENGTHENS STATISTICS SAY

Average Age Increase from 37.9 Years in 1908 to 38.8 in 1909.

WARNING IN TOTALS

Washington, Nov. 4.—The argument advanced by residents of other countries who come to the United States for a week, that Americans are going "the pace that kills," seems not to be borne out by statistics. A report recently issued by the census bureau shows the average age at which various diseases claim their victims. In 1908 the average age at death from all causes was 37.9 years and in 1909 it was 38.8 years, so this seems to prove that Americans in the last named year lived longer than they did in 1908.

From the statistics it is advised that one choose a circulatory disease, if one must have a disease, for the average in these cases shows that death does not come until well along in the sixtieth year. The next best sort of a disease to pick out is a nervous ailment, for "nerves" kill on the average in the fifty-fourth year of life.

The tuberculous diseases take off their victims at the average age of thirty-four years, but tuberculosis of the lungs has a lower death age, its victims generally dying when about thirty-three years old.

The statistics speak volumes in defense of the digestive system, and that is a strong warning against mistreatment of the stomach. The table shows that the broad average of all forms of digestive diseases causes death in the twenty-second year.

The average age of persons whose death is caused by typhoid fever is twenty-nine years. The following table gives the ages at the time of death due to the general and most common diseases:

Cause of Death.	Age at Death.	(Total Deaths.)
All causes	38.8	87.9
1-General diseases	36.8	36.6
Typhoid fever	29.0	28.8
Malarial fever	28.0	28.1
Smallpox	25.1	25.0
Measles	3.3	4.2
Scarlet fever	6.7	6.7
Whooping cough	1.8	1.5
Diphtheria	6.2	6.5
Croup	3.8	3.6

NAILS HIS SALAD AND LIKES IRON

Human Ostrich Had Pounds of Junk in His Stomach.

Pittsfield, Mass., Nov. 4.—Luke Parsons, the "human ostrich," who was in training for his annual Thanksgiving feast of jackknives and spikes, for which he has a special fondness, was operated on at the House of Mercy Hospital and 135 nails, two keys, six jackknives and a piece of iron were removed from his stomach and intestines.

Dr. W. O. Wilder, the hospital physician, assisted by Dr. I. S. P. Dodd, performed the operation. The nails had punctured the abdomen and peritonitis resulted, which led Parsons to apply for admission to the hospital on his statement that "my digestion is out of order."

While he was working as a carpenter ten years ago Parsons accidentally swallowed some shingle nails. The diet gave him no trouble and he took to training with nails as a regular menu, and adding jackknives and pieces of tin with buttonhooks as a salad and keys for dessert.

"I am feeling pretty hungry this afternoon," he said one day, and to satisfy his hunger he swallowed a gross of collar buttons.

Parsons told his surgeon that he had eaten no "solid" nourishment in iron or steel since last Thanksgiving. He is forty years old and has served several terms in the Berkshire house of correction. Dr. Dodd said Parsons would probably live, but it would require from forty-eight to seventy-two hours to finally determine the outcome.

BREAKS A COLD, NEEDS NO HELP

Pape's Cold Compound cures colds and gripple in a few hours.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Gripple and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world which will cure your cold or end Gripple misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute—contains no quinine. Belongs in every home. Tastes nice—acts gently.—Adv.

COLD DO NOT CAUSE CATARRH BAD BLOOD DOES

A cold will usually aggravate the symptoms of Catarrh, just as it will increase the pains of Rheumatism. But the cold has no more to do with the real cause of the one than with the other. Bad blood is the underlying cause for Catarrh; the circulation is infected with impurities which are deposited into the mucous membranes causing inflammation and irritation, followed by excessive secretion of the nose and throat, roaring sound in the ears, neuralgia, inflamed eyes, etc. Being a deep-seated blood trouble, Catarrh must be treated constitutionally, for it is beyond the reach of local treatment. The blood must be purified—the cause removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter and at the same time building up the system by a fine tonic effect. In other words S. S. S. cures the trouble by supplying the mucous membranes with healthy life-giving blood instead of saturating them with catarrhal impurities. Special book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write and request same. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

GIBBONS WOULD AWAKEN VOTERS

Cardinal in Election Eve Sermon Deplores

Lethargy.

PLEADS CIVIC DUTY

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—Cardinal Gibbons, in the cathedral here yesterday, delivered an election eve sermon designed to awaken "the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country." He declared that if the future historian is called upon to record the decline and fall of the American republic he will ascribe as the cause "the indifference, lethargy and political apostasy of its own sons."

The sermon was nonpartisan as to the personal preferences of the cardinal toward the three conspicuous candidates for president.

He asserted his intolerance toward pessimistic prophets who each campaign predict the end of the government unless their favorite candidate is elected, and by a discussion of our form of government sought to show that the results of our election cannot seriously affect the endurance of the republic.

Prophets Always Disappointed.
"It is the habit of pessimistic prophets to predict that our government will soon come to an end," said the cardinal, "and that it is already in the throes of dissolution, and the disaster is sure to occur if their favorite candidate is defeated. These prophecies are usually more frequent on the eve of a presidential election. I have been listening to these dire prognostications for over half a century."

"But in every instance the American people wake up on the morning after election to find that they were disquieted by false alarms and that the government is transacting its business in the same quiet and orderly manner as before."

Explains Confidence in Republic.
"I propose this morning to state as briefly as possible the grounds of my confidence in the stability and endurance of the American republic."

"By the wise provision of the constitution of the United States political authority is not concentrated in one individual, or in one department of the administration, but is judiciously distributed so that the balance of power may be preserved."

"Our general government consists of the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches. If anything goes wrong with any one of these departments, the evil is checked by the other two, and usurpation of power is prevented."

"There is an habitual jealousy among these branches. They are on the alert, zealously watching one another, so that no one branch may exceed its legitimate bounds. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

How to Stop a Cough

Something Every Mother Should Know

Every mother should watch over the health of her family as jealously as she guards the family morals. At the first symptom of a cough or cold, shake together in a large bottle a couple of ounces of glycerine, half an ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine and about half a pint of pure whisky.

Give the patient a teaspoonful of this simple and harmless remedy every four hours. The first dose almost invariably brings instant relief, and the cold is generally expelled from the system inside of twenty-four hours. A supply of this medicine should always be kept in the medicine cabinet to prevent the development of serious infections of the throat and bronchials.

You probably have the glycerine and whisky in the house already, and you can get the Virgin Oil of Pine at any drug store. To insure freshness and purity insist on having the half-ounce vials which come in sealed wooden cartons bearing the label of The Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.—Adv.

Cites Tests of Stability.

"Two momentous crises occurred in my own day which were well calculated to test the vitality and strength of the republic. The first was the war between the states, when the nation was cut in twain, when fratricidal blood was shed over the land and a tremendous conflict was carried on for four years. This calamity has happily ended, and the dismembered states are now more firmly united than ever before, because slavery, which was the bone of contention, has been removed once and forever."

"The second crisis occurred in the presidential contest in 1876, between Tilden and Hayes. Mr. Tilden was robbed of the fruit of the victory, which, I believe, he honestly won, and by questionable devices Mr. Hayes was declared the successful candidate."

"A nation that could survive these terrible strains must be possessed of extraordinary vitality and resources, and leads us to hope that in any future emergency the leaders and statesmen of the republic will rise to the occasion and bring order out of chaos."

"If our republic is to be perpetuated, if it is to be handed down unimpaired to future generations, it must rest on the eternal principles of justice, truth and righteousness and downright honesty in our dealings with other nations; it must be sustained by the devout recognition of an overruling power, whose superintending providence watches over the affairs of nations as well as of men, without whom not even a bird can fall to the ground."

Church and State Separate.
"It is true, indeed, that we have no official union of church and state in this country. But we are not to infer from this fact that there is any antagonism between the civil and religious authorities, nor does it imply any indifference to religious principles. Far from it."

"No man should be a drone in the social beehive. No man should be an indifferent spectator of the political and economical questions which confront him. Indifference and apathy in civic and national life are as hurtful to the state as indifference in religion is hurtful to the Christian commonwealth. Our Lord says to the bishop of Laodicea: 'I would that thou wert hot or cold; but because thou art lukewarm, and art neither cold nor hot, I will begin to vomit thee out of my mouth.'

Superior to Lukewarm Christian.

"A sincere man who in attacking Christian faith honestly believes that he is right is less blameworthy than the torpid, lukewarm Christian who never takes an interest in the religion of Christ. In like manner a citizen who earnestly espouses a faulty political principle is less dangerous to the state than the supine citizen who never takes an interest in the political welfare of his country."

"It is my profound conviction that if ever the republic is doomed to decay, if the future historian shall ever record the decline and fall of the American

The Sentinel Special Picture Map Showing Whole Balkan War Scene

This birdseye view of the terrific conflict in the East drawn especially for The Sentinel by Frank E. Brown.

In this picture map Artist Brown has stationed himself, figuratively, at Constantinople, the threatened capital of the Turkish empire and has made his pencil look Europe-ward, just as the Turkish sultan must be doing now, as he stands with his back to Asia, surveying his oncoming victorious enemies.

If the reader will note the points of the compass, he will see exactly how Turkey-in-Europe is surrounded by the semi-circle of Balkan states, all of which are pressing armies "forward to Constantinople."

This topographical or "picture" map of a great news event covering a great expanse of territory such as the Balkan war does, is an entirely new feature in daily newspaper illustration. Such a map conveys to the human eye instantly an understanding of places and events noted in the news dispatches, while the ordinary, or geography map, when printed in the newspaper, means little or nothing. How many of us really understand, although we read the name every day, what "the Bosphorus" means? A glance at this picture map shows that the great metropolis of Constantinople is really two cities; that the Bosphorus, a short strait and not a river, divides it in half. How many of us have the famous Dardanelles placed accurately in our minds? This picture map places

The Economical Superior of All Base Burners

The Stewart stands supreme in coal economy and least attention to produce the desired result of plenty of uniform heat for the whole house. Every good point in the base burners of other manufacturers is embodied in the Stewart and many valuable improvements not found in other stoves. The nickeling on this burner is an extremely high quality, distinguished for its brightness, whiteness and long lasting qualities. Experts declare this marvelous base burner is a great triumph because it is so thoroughly up-to-date in every detail of construction. It saves coal and coal costs money. It burns up all the gases and makes heat out of every vestige of fuel fed into it. It means money in your pocket to get one at Seavey's.

It is a good thing Seavey's have it
